N.Y. COLLISION OF AIRLINERS

WORST IN HISTORY

...127 Aboard Planes Die; 6 On Ground

New York (UPI)—A DC-8 jetliner and a Super-Constellation collided over New York in a snowstorm and crashed in flames in the city Friday in the worst disaster in aviation history. At least 133 persons were killed.

It was the nation's first jet crash involving passengers, it came on the eve of the 57th anniversary of the Wright brothers' maiden flight.

The pre-Christmas disaster struck at 10:37 a.m. EST when the United Air Lines jetliner and the Trans-World Airlines Super-Constellation collided while groping for landings at separate airports on Long Island.

Only one person, an 11-year-old boy, survived the tragedy. He was pulled from the DC-8 wreckage in critical condition.

The UAL jet, bound from Chicago for Idlewild International Airport, screamed to earth like a missile in a quiet Brooklyn residential district setting afire an entire block. The Constellation, flying from Dayton and Columbus, Ohio, to La Guardia field, crashed on Staten Island, carrying one of the DC-8's 4 jet engines with it.

Of the dead, 127 were aboard the planes and 6 on the ground, including two victims whose bodies were pulled from a smoldering church and a shattered mortuary in Brooklyn shortly before midnight Friday.

All 44 persons aboard the TWA plane were killed. Eighty-three of the 84 aboard the DC-8 died.

For hours during the evening the death toll stood at 131. Then as firemen picked through the charred ruins of the Pillar of Fire Methodist

The Associated Press listed 134 dead in the mishap; 127 victims in the two airplanes; 7 on the ground in Brooklyn.

Church, they came upon another body—that of a young boy. Other firemen found still another body trapped in the wreckage of the plane in the rear of the funeral parlor.

"As far as we know, there were no bodies in the funeral parlor at the time of the crash," said Deputy Assistant Chief John J. Savage.

Digging continued under floodlights in the flattened Brooklyn buildings for other possible victims.

the planes were two infants on the Constellation and one aboard the jetliner. They died with their mothers.

Police report the disaster set off a flood of missing persons.

FLAMES ENGULF 'PILLAR OF FIRE'

"And the Lord went before them by day in a pillar of cloud to lead them along the way, and by night in a pillar of fire to give them light, that they may travel by day and by night..."

Exodus 13:21 (Revised Standard Version)

New York (UPI) — From that Biblical quotation The Pillar Of Fire Church in Brooklyn got its name and its small following of Methodist revisionists drew their inspiration.

None of the church members were in the building Friday when it was demolished by the headlong plunge of a United Airlines DC-8 jetliner into the streets of Brooklyn.

Flames gushed from inside the brick and stucco structure and its front walls crumbled.

By Friday night the bodies of 9 victims of the crash had been recovered from the ruins. With them were personal belongings such as jackets, gloves and scarves.

The Brooklyn church is a branch of a movement founded in Denver at the turn of the century as an offshoot of the Methodist movement.

—DILLON NAMED SECRETARY OF TREASURY—

Robert Kennedy Gets Attorney General Post

Washington (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy flew off to Florida Friday after selecting his 35-year-old brother, Robert, for attorney general and Republican Douglas Dillon, 51, now under secretary of state, to be secretary of the treasury.

That left only the position of postmaster general to be filled in the cabinet.

The odds were on J. Edward Day, a Los Angeles executive and insurance executive and newcomer to the national political scene. Day rode with Kennedy on the plane to Palm Beach, Fla. as did Robert Kennedy.

White Kennedy also announced

two non-cabinet level choices. He selected Byron (Whizzer) White of Denver, a longtime friend and comrade of Navy days, as deputy attorney general. White's nickname comes from his all-American football record at the University of Colorado.

Harry J. Anslinger, veteran of years of service as U.S. Narcotics Commissioner, will continue in the new administration. Kennedy had followed the same policy in asking J. Edgar Hoover to continue as chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Allen Dulles to stay on as head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Kennedy announced the two cabinet appointments from the snowy steps of his Georgetown home.

He said, in answer to questions, that he couldn't recall a precedent for naming a brother to a cabinet post—but "we are going to start one."

Kennedy told reporters he thought he should obtain the best possible talent, regardless of party or other considerations.

William P. Rogers, the Eisenhower administration's attorney general, sent Robert Kennedy a message of congratulations, pledging "complete cooperation in making the transition orderly, successful and in the public interest."

Santa's Problems: Caroline, Castro

By Gene Budig

Having trouble filling your Christmas gift order? Pity Santa Claus.

Among the many gift orders facing him with Lincoln postmarks are:

—A chance to play house with Caroline Kennedy, the daughter of the President-elect.

—A chat with Castro.

—A baseball signed by Babe Ruth.

—A B-47 jet bomber from the Lincoln Air Force Base.

—A half share of the New York Yankees.

—A ride around the block on Trigger, Roy Rogers' trusty nag.

—A backyard missile launching site like the ones at Cape Canaveral.

—A day as President Eisenhower's caddy.

—A mink coat for mom because dad's shopping funds are running low.

—A new little brother or sister.

—A basketball used by Wilt Chamberlain.

—A date with Tony Curtis.

—A chance to walk again (written by a polio victim).

Postal officials say that this year's mail to the North Pole is running a little behind last year.

Lad, 11, Lone Survivor Of Airlines Crash

Hurled Free From United's Wreckage

... Traveling Alone To Join Mother In N.Y.

New York, (AP) — "Mother ... she's waiting for me." These mumbled words came from the lone survivor of Friday's double plane disaster, 11-year-old Stephen Baltz, as he lay seriously injured in Brooklyn's Methodist Hospital.

He was aboard a United Airlines jet plane from Chicago when it collided over New York with a Trans World Airlines plane, and crashed into a Brooklyn residential area.

He apparently was hurled free from a tail section.

A passerby, Louis Viericki, of Brooklyn, found the youngster lying unconscious on the pavement, and with the aid of a policeman got him to the hospital about 6 blocks away.

He had been on his way to join his mother, who had flown here earlier to visit relatives. His own trip had been delayed because he had a sore throat.

Mother Waits
At one point, in the hospital, he recovered consciousness long enough to murmur that his mother was waiting at Idlewild Airport for him.

And he was right. She was there with a number of others waiting for the plane. They were in tears. When the news of her son's survival was given her, she broke into a great smile of joy.

She said nothing. Her grateful happiness was too much for words.

She left in a car for the hospital.

There the lad, in his moments of a wariness, explained weakly, "I'm a Methodist Sunday school boy."

Chief Nurse Edith Roberts told him he had come to an appropriate hospital, a Methodist institution, and "we'll take good care of you."

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Baltz, of Chicago's suburban Wilmette. He is vice president and general counsel of the Admiral Corp.

Talks To Doctor
The boy regained consciousness later, and was able to talk to a doctor. He said of the accident: "I sions reports. At least 6 residents of Brooklyn were reported unaccounted for. Police said they had no definite information about them.

Ten persons were reported injured in Brooklyn when the jet crashed, turning a row of houses into a holocaust. The TWA plane disintegrated over Staten Island, raining bodies and debris over a wide area, but no one on the ground was hurt there.

"I would say that this was one of the saddest and most unfortunate and most tragic accidents in our aviation history," said Elwood R. Quessada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency, who flew here from Dayton, Ohio, shortly after the collision.

No Hint of Trouble
He said he had listened to tape-recorded conversations between airport control towers and the pilots and they gave no indication of any trouble before the disaster.

The lone survivor of the collision was 11-year-old Stephen Baltz of Wilmette, Ill., son of W. S. Baltz, vice president and general counsel of the Admiral Corp. The boy was taken to the hospital in critical conditions with burns and other injuries.

The worst previous airplane crash was that of an Air Force C124 Globemaster near Tokyo, June 18, 1953, killing 129 persons. The worst previous civilian air disaster was the collision of a United Airlines DC7 and a TWA Super Constellation—the same airlines involved in Friday's collision—on June 30, 1956, over the Grand Canyon, killing 128.

Those killed on the ground included a man selling Christmas trees, a butcher, a grocer and a sanitation department worker who was

Scaled Down Corn Crop Still Record

340,471,000 Bushel Output Estimated Due To Revision

... Sorghum Figures Also New High

By the Associated Press

The Department of Agriculture in Washington Friday scaled down its estimate of Nebraska's 1960 corn crop but it still ranks as the largest of record in the Cornhusker state.

The new production figure was calculated at 340,471,000 bushels, or an average of 50 1/2 bushels per acre. A month earlier the estimate was 368,628,000 bushels or 52 per acre.

At first glance, the new figure appeared to rank second best behind last year's bumper crop. But it doesn't—because government crop observers recently revised downward their production figure for last year.

The 1959 crop is now calculated at 330,285,000 bushels, down from 350,906,000 estimated earlier.

The revision resulted from the state farm census made early each year by county assessors, according to Ken Logan of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics in Lincoln. The farm census provides more accurate information on acreages than is available earlier.

The revision since last month on the 1960 output figure results in part from results of the farm census and in part from a fall survey made by the Lincoln division in the past month.

The fall survey, in which nearly 7,000 Nebraska farmers provided information, indicated that not as much corn was planted as had been thought when an earlier survey was made last June, Logan said.

Additionally, the fall survey disclosed that the proportion of irrigated land was lower than indicated earlier, and that corn in western Nebraska had been hit harder by drought than was thought earlier.

"Still Whale of Crop" "It's still a whale of a crop," said Logan.

Because of persistent wet ground during the corn planting season, some acreage was shifted to sorghum, the fall survey showed.

The result was a late boost in the estimate on grain sorghum production.

The USDA estimated the sorghum crop at 86,102,000 bushels or 50 1/2 an acre. Both figures are records.

A month earlier the estimate was 81,600,000 bushels or 50 per acre.

Winter wheat was pegged at 85,472,000 bushels or 28 1/2 acre, down a shade from the 88 million bushels and 29 per acre estimated a month earlier.

Oats harvested was estimated at 43,062,000 bushels or 35 1/2 an acre, a downward revision of a half bushel per acre.

Final figures for other Nebraska crops:

Barley—6.78 million bushels or 29 per acre.

Rye — 2.56 million bushels or 17 per acre.

Dry Beans—1.06 million pounds or 1,500 per acre.

Potatoes—2.84 million hundredweight or 168 per acre.

Groups Select New Officers

Omaha (AP)—County supervisors, meeting in conjunction with the Nebraska County Officials Assn., elected Leslie Stull of Alliance as president of their organization. Frank Cronk, Page, was named vice president and Robert Holmes, Trenton, secretary-treasurer.

Joseph J. Ripa, Wilber, was elected president of the county clerks and register of deeds state association with Clair Evans, Springfield, vice president, and Dale Frizzell, Osceola, secretary-treasurer.

County treasurers' officers were S. A. Wilson, Minden, president; Clifford Halbert, Blair, vice president, and Clarence E. Mock Jr., Tekamah, treasurer.

District clerks' officers: Hazel B. Gilmer, Albion, president; Wilford F. Sanders, Lincoln, vice president; Marie Benal, Wahoo, secretary-treasurer.

Child Evangelism Is Incorporated

The Child Evangelism Fellowship of Nebraska, Inc. of Lincoln has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state's office.

The non-profit group was formed to promote and conduct home Bible classes for children, and to "promote summer activities making possible Bible instruction and evangelistic work among children."

Incorporators of the firm are L. F. Loeffler of Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Tegley, Russell A. Thompson and Mrs. R. J. Molzahn, all of Lincoln; J. Richard Callahan of York, Harold Beauchamp of Ogallala, and Earl F. Schwenk of Chambers.

WHERE'S MY BOTTLE?

Pioneer Park's newest addition—a 14 lb., 4-day old baby guanaco—is being bottle fed and wants a little attention from attendant Darold Fletcher. The newcomer will be transferred to the Antelope Park Zoo where feeding will be easier, and where he'll be away from his father, who's a mite jealous about the attention received by his offspring. Children's Home Laundry Building Given The Ax

The old laundry building at the State Home for Children (57th and Walker) is being torn down to remove it as a fire hazard.

Superintendent Robert Rudell said the action was prompted by a desire to make the building conform to the regulations of the state fire marshal.

Final determination was that "the building was not new enough to make the necessary repairs," he said.

The structure has been standing idle recently except for its use as living quarters for the home's maintenance man.

In the past, the building handled the washing for the home.

Not Needed

A change in the home's program—it no longer houses children under 6, whereas it used to accommodate large numbers of babies—made the laundry no longer necessary, Rudell said.

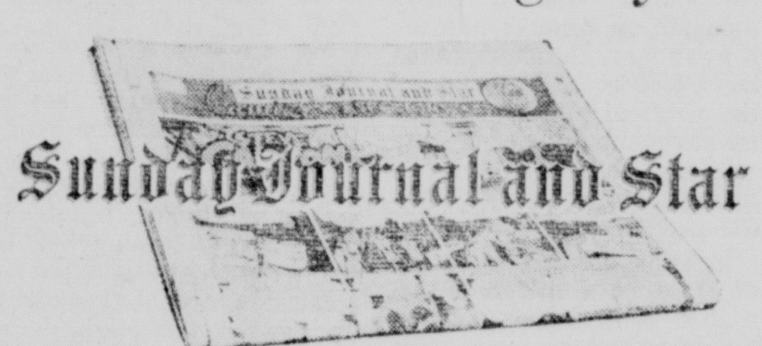

In addition, he noted, the home installed automatic washers and dryers for its occupants.

PCA Stockholders Set Annual Meet

The stockholders of the Lincoln Production Credit Assn. will hold the 27th annual meeting Jan. 19, according to Dwayne Dietze, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting will emphasize the PCA's 27 years of service to farmers and stockmen in Lancaster, Otoe, Fillmore, Saline, Seward and York counties, Dietze said.

Charges Are Probable In Triple Fatality

Beatrice (AP)—Acting County Attorney Dean Sackett said Friday he probably will file charges in a Nov. 19 traffic accident which took 3 lives.

A coroner's jury held the 3 "came to their deaths feloniously as a result of an accident involved with Gene Searcey."

Searcey, 21, was the driver of one of two cars involved in a near head-on collision at the Beatrice city limits shortly after 2 a.m. The victims were Mrs. William Jaeger, 33, Beatrice, her 9-year-old daughter Sharon Lee, and Mrs. Donald Milburn, 29, Van Bruno, Calif., Mrs. Jaeger's sister, who were in the other car. Five persons were injured.

Searcey, whose home is Liberty, was home on leave after an Army assignment in Germany. He was to be married the next day and the new car he was driving was a wedding present.

State Insurance Rules Cover Foreign Firms

The Nebraska attorney general's office issued an opinion Friday saying "foreign" insurance companies operating in Nebraska are bound by the same investment regulations as domestic firms.

For example, an insurance company incorporated in some other state but authorized to do business in Nebraska may place no more than 10% of its investment funds in common stocks, the rule which applies to insurance companies incorporated in Nebraska.

The opinion was written by John E. Wenstrand, assistant attorney general, on a question by William E. Grubbs, state director of insurance.

LIGHT, POWER VETERAN J. W. EASTON, DIES

James W. Easton, 74, a veteran in the field of light and power production in Nebraska, died Friday at a local hospital.

Mr. Easton, who lived at 6805 Ballard, was associated with the Consumers Public Power District Havelock office for 44 years until his retirement in 1955.

Born at Sedgwick, Kan. in 1886, he came to Nebraska as a child, living in Republican City, where he graduated from high school. He moved to Lincoln in 1906.

He then became a bookkeeper for the Lincoln Gas & Electric Co. He was named superintendent of the plant at Havelock and remained in that position under various ownerships until it was taken over by Consumers.

He was a member of George Washington Lodge,

AF&AM, and was its past master; a member of the Scottish Rite (32nd Degree); a past master Mason; a Shriner; member of IOOF at Havelock; past patron of Martha Washington Chapter, O.E.S.; Havelock Lions Club; past president of the Lincoln Welfare Society; and a member of St. David's Episcopal Church.

Survivors include his wife, Ethelwynn; a son, Harlan G. of Omaha; and a grandson, Pvt. James C. U.S. Army, Fort Ord, Calif.

Funeral services are pending.

Cabinet Nears Completion

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Cabinet appointments by President-elect John F. Kennedy continue to merit support, even though the last round of selections may contain some elements of controversy. Kennedy will silence a lot of critics with his selection of Douglas Dillon as his treasury secretary. Now undersecretary of state in the Eisenhower administration, Dillon speaks emphatically of fiscal responsibility.

And he will now be in a position of influence insofar as the fiscal affairs of the nation are concerned. The appointment goes a long way toward answering those who had alleged that Kennedy was irresponsible in matters of finance. The fact is that any honest analysis of Kennedy's program failed to show the recklessness of which he was accused throughout the campaign. The Dillon appointment is not surprising except, perhaps, to those who believed the false charges that had been leveled against Kennedy. Nor is Dillon's selection a traitorous act to those who have looked for changes from Kennedy.

Kennedy has consistently spoken of new frontiers and he still intends to cross them but not at the cost of a ruined economy. He simply believes that the American system is strong enough to survive while meeting its challenges and responsibility 100 per cent of the way. Kennedy discards false limitations, not intelligent progress toward greater fulfillment of the nation's aspirations.

Another successful appointment by the President-elect is Arthur Goldberg as secretary of labor. As attorney for the AFL-CIO, Goldberg can be considered a labor man and this will not be popular with everyone. Yet, as hired counsel for labor, he is not in the same category as an administrative officers who make the big labor decisions.

In addition to this, Goldberg is possessed of one of the keenest minds in the nation and has a reputation for integrity of the highest order. He has shown a marked capacity to work successfully on both sides of labor-management disputes and is as far away from the Hoffa image as any man could get. He has the capacity and characteristics which should make him eminently successful in his new cabinet position.

There are more political aspects associated with the other two recent appointments by Kennedy, brother Robert F. as U.S. attorney general and former Minnesota Gov.

Orville Freeman as secretary of agriculture. For selection of his brother, Kennedy will undoubtedly receive criticism but he is no doubt aware of this fact. Just the same, Robert has made an outstanding record for himself in public life at a very young age and is as qualified for the job as anyone the President-elect might have chosen. Judgment of this choice should be based, not on family ties, but on the job that young Kennedy does in his new position.

Of great interest to Nebraska and, also, not without political implications is the appointment of Freeman to the top agricultural post. It will be pointed out here that Freeman is considered one of the Democratic party's top liberals and that he nominated Senator Kennedy at the Los Angeles convention. Also, the selection is recognition of the fact that Minnesota was about the only farm state which supported Kennedy in November.

It was Minnesota's returns which put Kennedy over the hill on the Wednesday morning after election day. But aside from these political facts, there are other things to consider. While Freeman is a liberal of the Hubert Humphrey order, his farm program will be tempered by the influence of the rest of the administration.

Also, the former Minnesota governor is a highly intelligent individual who has worked diligently to acquaint himself with the problems of the farmer and attempt to find some of the needed answers.

He has demonstrated a real sympathy for the cause of agriculture and believes firmly in a fair share of the nation's income for the man on the farm. His knowledge and his attitude will be put to a severe test in the years ahead. The solution to the cost-price squeeze is still going to require some further study and experimentation.

Farm problems today are not going to be eliminated simply by giving the farmer a choice between complete ruin or existence under terms distasteful to him. The sad part about the problem Freeman faces is that it is actually so small. Surpluses represent only about 4 per cent of total production and little more than half of this would need to be eliminated to bring stability. But the surplus looms big in terms of its accumulated current total of about $9 billion and its effects upon the remaining 96 per cent of the crops of our land.

Resource Development

The President's Conference on Water Conservation and Anti-pollution opened a few days ago in Washington.

Nature, which wasn't invited to the conference, chose the occasion to make a few remarks and to emphasize the subject of the parley. It dumped a heavy fall of snow on the national capital and the conference delegates as well. It was the wettest water conference of record. This was fitting because water is becoming an urgent subject and some of the facts brought forth are well worth thought.

One is that the eastern two-thirds of the United States, which includes most of Nebraska, has an average rainfall of 30 inches of which not more than 10 inches are utilized. The other 20 inches run off, taking with it precious top soil and leaving millions of dollars of damage to business, industry, commerce and householders. More than that, mass indifference has managed to pollute most of the streams and this has got to stop because population growth is threatening to create a serious water shortage.

Nebraska with its population and economie problems could make constructive use of these facts. Eastern Nebraska is one of the worst offenders in water waste, albeit water is a resource that is becoming more and more a criterion of growth. It appears fundamental that any program of economic expansion here would deal with water conservation as one of the first requirements.

Flood control reservoirs, it is conceded, would submerge agricultural land, but it can be cogently argued that the production benefits to the remaining land would not only save the rural community from economic loss but would make each farm more economically practicable through higher production ratios. The reservoirs and controlled, uncontaminated streams would add an incalculable economic bonus in recreation and industry.

It could also be noted that a redirection of funds now devoted to open end soil bank programs should be ample to finance the vast improvement without resort to new taxes.

Disaster In Air

With the number of dead still unknown, the nation mourns the tragic loss of life from the airborne collision of two commercial planes over New York. Always, it seems, there is something of this nature to mar the spirits of all people at what should be a joyous time of year. And as the shock of this disaster wears off, its wake will be a deep conviction that those who are dead have been failed by the rest of us.

Our sense of failure should come from the sheer fact that such a thing as this could happen. With all the careful guidance systems that were directing these planes in their blind flight through a snowstorm, an error was made and it was one of, if not the most costly error in aviation history. Perhaps the final count will not show it but the current year seems to have been an unusually hard one in the field of commercial aviation.

Those concerned with this system of transportation, the airlines and federal officials, have a responsibility that has not been met. It could not have been met and still permit this sort of crash to take place. Whatever we have done in the past toward safety in the airways, it is evident that much more needs to be done. It is not enough that we have a plan that works so long as nothing goes wrong.

It may seem like an impossibility, but the public should demand an aviation system which guarantees the safety of those who use it, with the exception of mechanical failures of the craft which are beyond absolute control. The collision of these planes is an accident of such a nature that cannot be tolerated. Under no circumstances can it be excused and the time at which it happened only serves to add emphasis to this contention. The public should not rest this case until it has been assured that there can be no repetition of the tragedy.

Editorial Of The Day

New Odors From Russia

From The Des Moines Register
Something new is on its way to the American perfume counters. Soviet scents! Arrangements are now being made, according to the Wall Street Journal, with American importers to put Russian perfumes on the market here. It seems there has been one hitch, however. The Soviet commercial representatives are reluctant to change the names of some of their perfumes.

The importers, who feel they know more about the idiosyncrasies of American customers have insisted that the name "Black Casket" be abandoned from one scent. It has funeral associations for Americans even if it doesn't for the Russians.

There have been other names to which objections have been raised. The news story didn't say what they were. We can imagine, however, that our American merchandisers might be a bit skeptical about the market prospects if any of the Russian perfumes happened to be labeled "You Too," "I Spy" or "Khrushchev's Shoe."

The thing that interested us most in the report was the statement that the Russians have made one concession. They've agreed, temporarily at least, to change the name of their "Black Casket" perfume to "Treasure Chest."

That is remarkable! We don't mean that the new name is remarkable, but the fact that the Russians would make a concession.

President-elect Kennedy should make note of the names of those American importers who conducted the negotiations. Their talents might be useful when the next summit conference with Khrushchev is held.

Khrushchev And Berlin, The Issues

WASHINGTON — What's really been at stake during the backstage huddles over picking Kennedy's new secretary of state is the future of that controversial key city of Berlin and willingness to negotiate with Khrushchev.

In other words, the question of a tough policy or a flexible policy over Berlin, the question, perhaps, of peace or war, hinges in part on the character and background of the new secretary of state.

Dean Acheson, the former secretary of state who lives only a few blocks from Kennedy on P Street in Georgetown, believes in a tough, don't-yeild-an-inch policy. He was against Adlai Stevenson because he feared Adlai would not be tough. When Acheson was secretary of state, he followed his policy successfully.

David K. E. Bruce, who lives at P and 34th streets in Georgetown, just around the corner from Kennedy's house on N Street, also believes in a tough policy. As U.S. ambassador to West Germany and a close friend of Chancellor Adenauer he tried to follow such a policy, sometimes found that Eisenhower vacillated.

But in the interim since Acheson, the armed strength of the United States has dropped drastically. And regardless of the political pros and cons, our military men who have to do the fighting have made it all too clear that we lack the preponderant strength we had when Truman and Acheson forced their dramatic showdown with Russia over the Berlin airlift in 1949-50.

Dean Rusk, the man Kennedy finally picked as secretary of state, served as assistant secretary of state in the crucial years 1949-50 when Acheson was staging the showdown over Berlin. He understands the problem of Berlin. But, even more, he understands the Far East, served as assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and deputy under secretary of state at the time the USA faced another, even more serious showdown with the communist world—the Korean war.

Rusk lived, therefore, through the most difficult period of the postwar wrangling with Moscow. He was one of the "young colonels" transferred from the Pentagon to the state department by Gen. George Marshall, then secretary of state. Yet as a state department official he sometimes wrangled with the Army over the ticklish question of "hot pursuit" across the Yalu river into Red Chinese territory during the Korean war.

And it was Rusk who was called to the White House late one night in April 1951 to help Harry Truman prepare the press release firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander in the Far East.

Rusk is not a member of the don't-negotiate-with-Khrushchev camp. He is no appeaser, but he is not as intransigent as Acheson. He knows what it would mean to go through another Korean war. He understands the political pitfalls and the military magnitude of any military showdown with a nation teeming with 675,000,000 people.

In brief, the new secretary of state is a middle-of-the-roader with experience in the past and his eyes wide open regarding the future.

DORIS FLEESON

Goldberg A Blue Ribbon Selection

WASHINGTON—The prestige of the American labor movement is elevated by President-elect John Kennedy's choice of Arthur Goldberg, special counsel to the AFL-CIO and general counsel for the United Steelworkers, as secretary of labor.

Goldberg's talents as a labor negotiator are widely acknowledged, and he and his delightful wife, a well-known abstract painter, are the intellectual and cultural peers of any of their new associates in the Kennedy administration. He is not, however, a labor leader in the generally accepted sense.

AFL-CIO President George Meany made the distinction clear in prior discussion of the Goldberg appointment. Meany said that he would never approve of an elected official of the labor movement becoming labor secretary. Goldberg, Meany pointed out, was a talented lawyer hired by labor because of his gifts in the vital field of labor negotiations.

It may be added that this fact has given Goldberg a far greater independence of thought and action than many so-called labor lawyers enjoy. It has won him some enmity among AFL craft unions but a far greater acceptance than usual in the Congress.

He will need to mend some fences within labor itself, and Congress will not be immediately transformed into labor-lovers. But his friends are sure that he will never let himself be bogged down in the day-by-day housekeeping of his department nor in any mean exchange of favors.

His interests instead suggest that his main objective will be to get the American economy moving again in a productive and fruitful way.

In such an objective, Goldberg's principal assistance will be the Kennedy secretary of commerce, Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, a former textile executive of moderate views on most questions, including integration.

The two men are an interesting contrast in looks and personality. Goldberg, 52, is intellectual and intense; Hodges at 62 is relaxed and courtly. Both are keen and practical, however, and not given to dogmatic assertion.

They agree on the proposition, too, that the problem is to get moving to insure full employment and expand the rate of economic growth.

They are well-paired also for the effort to promote labor-management peace, a difficult goal but one essential to maintenance of American economic power.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Light Of The World, We Hail Thee

Light of the world, we hail Thee,
Flushing the eastern skies;
Never shall darkness veil Thee
Again from human eyes;
Too long, alas, with-holden,
Now spread from shore to shore;
Thy light, so glad and golden,
Shall set on earth no more.

Light of the world, Thy beauty
Steals into every heart,
And glorifies with duty
Life's poorest, humblest part;
Thou robest in Thy splendor
The simple ways of men,
And helpest them to render
Light back to Thee again.

Light of the world, illumine
This darkened land of Thine;
Till everything that's human
Be filled with what's divine;
Till every tongue and nation,
From sin's dominion free,
Rise in the new creation
Which springs from love and Thee.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Men's yearning for world friendship and universal peace was being voiced by many hymnists of the nineteenth century even as it is being stressed by statesmen and churchmen of our own era.

It was this ideal which inspired the magnificent hymn, "Light Of The World, We Hail Thee," written in 1863 by the Rev. John S. B. Monsell, a distinguished English clergyman and hymnist.

The hymn's message is as timely today as it was when the verses first appeared nearly one hundred years ago. It reminds anxious men and women that only God, the true Light of the world, can fulfill their hope of achieving true world friendship and peace.

The hymn tune is a Welsh melody known as "Meirionnydd."

Neighbor Complains

Lincoln, Neb.
My family and I are fairly new to Lincoln and think we would like the town. We had hoped to learn to enjoy it and its people more and more, but I cannot understand nor reason out some recent actions.

Some weeks ago my children and their friends were turned into the juvenile authorities for playing football in their own backyard. In turn I received the most blasting phone call, with no courteous explanation whatsoever. The woman on the phone was listing so many rules and regulations, mixed with complaints from several addresses nearby that I was certain she had called me by mistake. I said I was sorry, but received no answer to my apologies.

My children are normal. They've been brought up as decently as any. They've never been a nuisance in any neighborhood and are going to be darn good citizens. This sort of accusation is exactly why many children get off on the wrong path and do become delinquents. They give up against the adult delinquents who damage more young lives than all the fatal illnesses combined.

Well, I went outside and stopped the children immediately, telling them of the complaints. We talked about it, and the boys went to the complaining addresses to apologize. They found that none of those at listed addresses had any complaints whatsoever, and that they even approved of the fun, offering to let them play in their yards if they wanted to.

All this has come at a hard time for us. We have had two deaths in our immediate families recently, and tonight we have just returned from the base, watching three B-47 bombers wing their way off into the night headed for England. Our guy was navigating Plane No. 3, and he'll be gone for Christmas. Know why? Because he thinks it's pretty important to keep America a safe and sound place in which to raise our children. But to me, at times it seems pretty futile.

MRS. B. A. QUAM

Medical Plan

North Bend, Neb.
The estimates on cost of an old age medical plan have been greatly exaggerated by some who oppose the federal aid of 56 per cent which is available for Nebraska if our legislators vote to accept such a plan for the aged over 65. The estimate of $3 million as shown in a recent headline need not be an additional tax burden on Nebraska, nor would it be necessary to drain the social security system of funds. That would be unfair and unjust to our younger generations.

This fund can be matched with a health insurance plan whereby each individual could either accept or reject voluntarily the matching of federal aid for the aged. In special cases of the poverty-stricken or destitute, the state could give assistance in paying the premiums when necessary.

A few years ago our soldier sons were issued $10,000 life insurance policies for $6.70 per $1,000, with the death rate appalling. Yet the parents received dividends several years after their sons were sleeping beneath the sod. If that was possible, it is my conviction that a health insurance plan for the aged, with the state sponsoring the program of medical aid can be made possible without any tax burden or tapping of social security funds.

I would like to hear other opinions on this most important subject.

GEORGE DIECKMANN

Farmer's Plight

Lincoln, Neb.
Wednesday's editorial in The Star stating that agriculture's problems have grown in intensity in the past 10 years and are approaching a climax is all too true. However, the editor also asserts that "nothing on the horizon at this time" is being done to stop this impending "climax" or crisis.

He also mentions in regard to Governor-elect Morrison's Breadbasket Conference that "not a new sound came out of the conference and that is a part of the dilemma which we face."

I believe a more detailed and deeper analysis of this meeting is in order.

Dr. Willard W. Cochrane, a special agricultural adviser of President-elect Kennedy and his representative at this meeting, outlined and discussed in some detail the approach necessary and methods needed for a unified action on agriculture's problems. He emphasized President-elect Kennedy's willingness to work with and support any positive actions and approaches made by any responsible persons or groups. He also stated that no agricultural programs will be forced upon anyone but that by referendum vote farmers can accept or reject the programs offered.

Now, I contend that farmers who actually operate farms are willing to comply with a program that is designed and formulated to bring about their fair and equitable share of the nation's income.

Farm programs of the past were either designed or administered in such a manner that they failed to help the actual farm operators and have resulted in the situation in which we find ourselves today. On the other hand, past programs gave some segments of agriculture unfair advantages they were quick to exploit. This exploitation resulted in conditions that are thwarting any unity of action now by the so-called farm groups insofar as coming to any agreements on a good workable farm program.

Until such time that all citizens are brought to the realization of the seriousness of the plight of the American farmer, we will continue to have disunity of purpose and no effective answers to our problems.

Car-Licensing

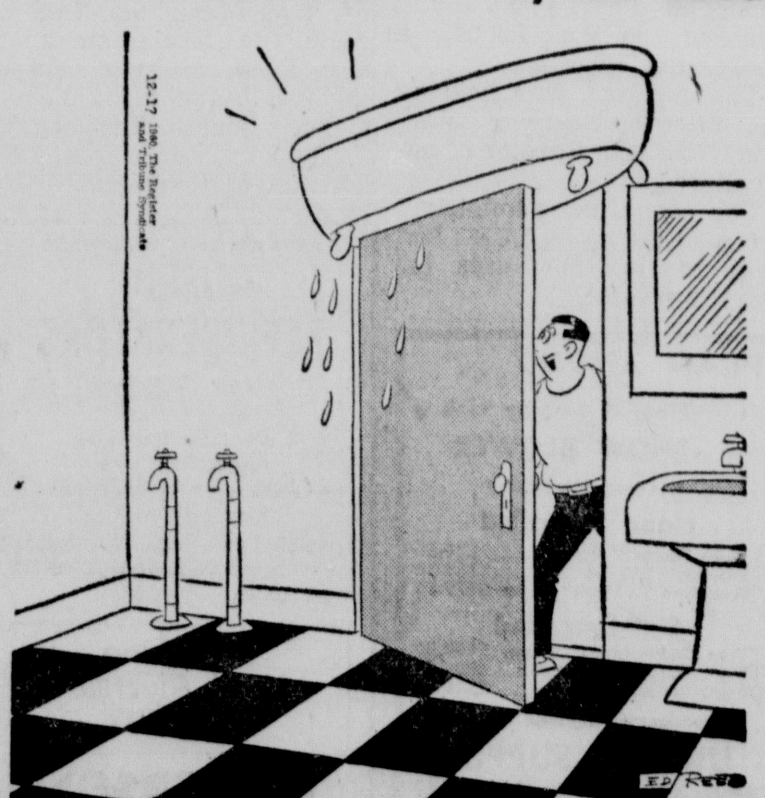

Lincoln, Neb.
If the city of Lincoln wants to bring in more money, why not make a law that after a person has lived here a month or so, he be required to buy Lincoln car licenses. Then he'd have to pay wheel tax, plus car taxes here, too, thus keeping more money here in Lincoln.

I'll bet the city officials would be surprised at the number of people who have lived here for years, yet keep buying their car licenses elsewhere.

The Nebraska Supreme Court announced decisions Friday affirming 3 district court judgments and reversing two others.

A district court decision favoring a Lincoln couple who sued the firm which wrote the insurance on their house, was affirmed Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The action was started by John L. and Mary Ellen Morton against Travelers Insurance Co. They sought to recover for the collapse of part of their basement walls. The district court for Lancaster County awarded them a judgment of $1,500, but denied costs for attorney fees.

On appeal, the Supreme Court said they should not be allowed anything for attorneys, but the judgment on their basement was in all respects affirmed.

The Lancaster County case of Standard Reliance Insurance Co. vs. Ruth Schoenthal and others was reversed Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The suit was begun by Standard Reliance to obtain the specific performance of an option in a contract for the repurchase of real estate it had conveyed to C. E. and Medora A. Prevey, husband and wife, both deceased.

Ruth Schoenthal and others represented the late Mr. and Mrs. Prevey.

The district court held the option had not been exercised in accordance with its terms, and dismissed the company's petition.

The company appealed, however, and the Supreme Court reversed the trial court and ordered it to determine the financial rights of the parties, and see that they are carried out.

The Sherman County Superintendent of schools won his point before the Nebraska Supreme Court Friday in the matter of school district reorganization.

The superintendent, Rhea Rentfrow, had dissolved School District No. 3 and attached it to District No. 8, contributing the assets of No. 3 to No. 8.

The action was contested by Norman B. McDonald, and the district court decreed that District No. 3 should be divided between No. 8 and District No. 30 of Howard County, and the funds be distributed in proportion to the assessed valuation annexed to each district.

The Supreme Court reversed the lower court, however, and ordered it to affirm the dissolution arrangements made by Superintendent Rentfrow.

Rail Action Affirmed

The State Railway Commission acted correctly in authorizing the Bower Freight Line of Wolbach to include both Grand Island and St. Paul as intermediate points on the firm's alternate route authority, the State Supreme Court said Friday.

There were objections to the commission order.

The high court noted that the Nelson Freight Line of Wolbach, whose operating authority was transferred to the Bower Line in 1948, served St. Paul and Grand Island. The railway commission, apparently through an oversight, neglected to include St. Paul and Grand Island as intermediate points when describing Nelson's regular route territory, the high court said.

It added that it was apparent that all of Nelson's authority was transferred to the Bower line.

A Douglas County District Court case involving damages to a service station because of street work was reversed Friday by the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The action was started by the Phillips Petroleum Co., who appealed to the district court from the assessment of damages made by county appraisers after part of its land was taken for a street improvement.

The firm said it was offered $6,325, and in district court it asked for a settlement of $42,000. The district court awarded the firm $13,168, and the city of Omaha appealed.

The supreme court reversed the $13,168 judgment and ordered the case back into district court for further proceedings.

SEWARD HART IS OMAHA JUVENILE COURT JUDGE

Governor Burney Friday appointed Seward L. Hart, 45, of Omaha as judge for the separate juvenile court of Douglas County.

Burney said Hart was recommended by the Omaha Bar Assn. and by a citizens committee.

Burney has already appointed William W. Nuernburger, 33, of Lincoln as juvenile judge for Lancaster County.

Hart will be Douglas County's first juvenile judge as a result of the Nov. 8 election which allowed the county to establish its own juvenile court.

Nuernburger will be the first judge for Lancaster County on the separate juvenile court as a result of the Nov. 8 election.

Burney said he thought Hart was "exceptionally well qualified" for the position of juvenile judge.

Hart has been employed by the Federal Land Bank of Omaha since 1951.

He is a member of the executive committee of the local bar association and a member of the national committee on juvenile delinquency, Burney said.

Hart received his bachelor of arts degree from Yankton College in Yankton, S.D. and received his law degree in 1950 from George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

He was admitted to the Nebraska Bar in 1951. He was principal of high schools at Valley Springs in Lennox, S.D., before going to George Washington University.

He is married and has 4 young children.

Arson Detected In Omaha Fires

Omaha (P) — Two garage fires in North Omaha were deliberately set, Arson Investigator Dan Mulcahey said Friday.

The fires in garages at Cliff's Corner grocery and the residence of James Walsh were doused by firemen before damage became extensive. A car in the Walsh garage, however, was burned.

Mulcahey said paper had been stacked against the wall and ignited at the grocery. At the Walsh home, papers had been stacked in the seat of the car and against the garage wall and ignited.

Nice Pay Hike

Lisbon (P) — The 100,000 textile workers in Portugal get a 20% raise starting in January under a new contract between the industry build and syndicates of workers.

'SNOWS NOT THE WORST'

By Saul Pett
New York (AP) — Brooklyn never looked more drab. The tenements, the brownstones, the faded red brick fronts. It was snowing again and people grumbled about the weather.

Coming so soon after Monday's blizzard, another snow seemed about the worst thing that could happen.

It wasn't. Vincent Ortolano, 30, long-shoreman, was having coffee in his kitchen.

"I saw the snow and I said to the wife, better keep the kids in again. And then I saw this plane and it was so low I could hit it with a snow ball. It was so close it vibrated the coffee pot right off the table."

"And then the plane was gone from sight and I heard this tremendous explosion..."

And several miles away, across the narrows of New York harbor, snow was falling among the small bungalows surrounding Miller Field, a small Army Air Force base in Staten Island.

"I was washing dishes and I heard a terrific noise like an explosion," said Mrs. Maude Petersen. "I ran out and saw this plane coming down. I thought it would hit my house. Then I thought it might hit one farther down and I thought, 'my God, it's going to hit the Brodys.' But God guided that pilot and he went over, beyond the fence..."

What these people saw and heard was a huge United Air Lines jet plunging down in Brooklyn and a TWA Super-Constellation falling on Staten Island, after colliding in the foggy, snowy air above.

In Brooklyn, the huge jet completely gutted "The Pillar of Fire" church and two stores, set fire to several buildings and sheared off roof ledges of others.

The horror was as widespread as the fragments.

"I had just gotten out of bed," said Mrs. Thomasina Hill, still in tears hours later. "I heard the explosion and I could see the flame. I saw this boy, no more than 12, lying in the street and he was burning and it was so horrible I couldn't move. I just stood there and somebody ran to him finally."

The jet's wing apparently crashed into the church, part of the fuselage plunged onto a roof of a tenement and the tail section fell onto a car in the middle of an intersection.

From the window of her flower shop, Mrs. Constance Ciazio saw and remembered and shuddered in the memory.

"I saw this 17- or 18-year-old boy running down the street, blood all over his face. He was screaming and his eyes were bulging. My husband grabbed him and shook him but he kept running..."

Ed Loughlan, 27, raced out of a nearby restaurant, grabbing a fire extinguisher. He sprayed it on the mutilated bodies scattered over the pavement, so they wouldn't catch fire.

Many other people saw the horror, too, and after the first shock they went back into their homes and drew the shades rather than see any more.

And in Staten Island, Edward McGair, 51, a milkman, recalled:

"I was standing there outside, thinking about putting Christmas lights on the tree when I heard this boom. Then there was this terrific orange ball of fire. Then I saw this plane spiral down, like a wounded bird."

"Later I found this suit coat."

He held up the coat. Its right arm had been blasted off and red stained the shoulder. A half-smoked pack of cigarettes was still in one pocket.

Fragments of humanity and plane wreckage were scattered over several miles. A woman's blouse dangled from a tree. Bits of foam rubber hung like confetti from other trees.

Soldiers began collecting the grim fragments in sacks.

There was an overnight case, with baby pants and a nightgown, and the edges were burned and there were red stains.

There was a checkbook, flipped open, wet with snow. It showed a balance of $3.48.

There was one shoe, its knot still neatly tied, its polish still shining.

There was a rosary and a length of sash.

There was a religious book with the Virgin Mother on the cover.

There were, in many places, bits and pieces of Christmas packages.

Wreckage strewn on Brooklyn

Wreckage of the UAL airliner that crashed in Brooklyn Friday is strewn over the intersection of two streets. Several cars were damaged by the giant plane as well as an entire block of apartments and shops which were set ablaze.

Store Owners 'Happy' Over Yule Shoppers

Christmas shopping, expected to hit its peak in Lincoln next Monday, is living up to merchants' expectations all over town.

Louis Shackelford, official of the Downtown Lincoln Assn., reported that downtown store officials are "very pleased" with the amount and spending capacity of this year's shoppers.

He noted that Christmas buying did not seem to cause "the crush of earlier years, mainly because shoppers seem to be planning and doing some buying for Christmas earlier."

The sales peak expected Monday or Tuesday by most merchants will feature the fast-shopping, big-spending male population, and business is then expected to taper down to a dither of last minute purchases during the last of the week.

Both downtown and suburban stores report that evening shopping hours are popular, but crowds seem to be more evenly distributed this year, over previous years, with no apparent loss of customers.

One suburban center reported that night hours were netting them about 50% of their daily business during the 3-hour evening shopping period.

KICKING COW CAUSES CLAIM FOR $15,000

A kicking cow has provoked a $15,000 damage suit in Lancaster District Court.

Loyal D. Lybarger of Lincoln filed the suit Friday against James Spilker of DeWitt, alleging he suffered a broken leg June 15 when kicked by a cow belonging to Spilker.

Lybarger alleged in the petition that Spilker "failed to warn the plaintiff of the dangerous and vicious propensities of the cow" and "carelessly and negligently directed the plaintiff to grab the tail of the cow while the defendant (Spilker) was putting a rope around the cow's neck."

'Y' Training Meet
Slated For Saturday

A leadership training session for officers of 11 Gray-Y Clubs in the Northeast Branch YMCA area will be held Saturday, according to Ray Apfel, program secretary.

Some 44 officers are expected to attend. The meeting is aimed at showing the boys the importance of their jobs as club leaders and to train them to become better leaders, Apfel said.

CONSUMERS OKAYS $10 MILLION BUDGET

A construction and equipment budget of $10,732,700 for 1961 was approved Friday by Consumers Public Power District's Board of Directors. The money includes $4,420,000 carried over from the contract year for CPPD's new 100,000 kilowatt Sheldon Station and related Nuclear Power facility at Hallam.

President Wayne E. Barber, of Norfolk, pointed out that the steam plant will get into power production in 4 months — next April — and said an additional $1,035,000 will be invested in Sheldon Station next year, including about 22½ miles of 115,000 volt transmission line from the plant into Lincoln.

The other large single construction project, Barber said, will be the completion of the 115,000 volt transmission line in the western system. The 1961 budget calls for $553,000 to finish work and installation of equipment on the large transmission line which will join Scottsbluff, Chadron, Gordon, Rushville and Crawford. The line will be in operation about mid-summer.

The Lincoln district's planned construction and equipment expenditures amount to $1,107,430.

CPPD General Manager R. L. Schacht, in discussing the 218 page budget of the directors, pointed out the following highlights:

Expected operating income — $21,923,369 (Eastern System, $19,206,054; Western System, $2,717,315); operating expenses — $17,670,761 (Eastern System, which covers the eastern two-thirds of the state, is tabbed at $15,724,781).

Major overall expenses, Schacht revealed in his budget presentation include:

Purchase of power — $7,647,000 (this will be down about $500,000 over 1960 because of Sheldon Station power production); power production — $1,728,013; payments "in lieu of taxes" — $810,140 (an increase of about $27,400 from 1960); retirement of revenue bonds and interest payments — $4,109,560; administrative and general expenses — $2,077,140 (including customer accounting, building, collections, and wages).

Schacht told the board the operating income was pegged at about a 6 per cent increase. He said operating expenses are estimated to advance about 6.4 per cent over 1960. He listed CPPD's state wide continued construction program and a greater interest in community and industrial development activities are two factors in the slight differences in income and expenses.

Outside of the Sheldon Station and Western System's 115,000 volt transmission line work, Schacht highlighted some of the other larger construction projects planned for 1961. They include:

Rebuilding 12 miles of 34,500 volt line between Humboldt and Payette City — $78,000; build 6 miles of 34,500 volt line between Milligan and Dayton — $30,000; rebuild 6 miles of 72,000 volt line between Sterling and St. Mary — $15,000; build two 34,500 volt (tie lines) and related substation equipment in southeast Lincoln — $80,000; service new residential areas in Lincoln — $60,000; work on two 34,500 volt transmission line projects in the Columbus area — $40,000.

Rejuvenation of a 12,000 volt line between Stanton and Piler — $30,000; construct a 34,500 volt (ring bus) line in northwest Norfolk including substation equipment — $80,000; rebuild 13 miles of 34,500 volt line between O'Neill and Atkinson — $95,000; rebuild about two and a half miles of double circuit 69,000 volt line between Belden and Coleridge Junction — $50,000; rebuild about 4 miles of double circuit 69,000 volt line between Wausa and Magnet — $40,000; rebuild 5 miles of 12,000 volt line between Dannebrog and St. Paul — $25,000; "beefing up" substation transformer capacity in north Kearney — $38,000.

Rebuild 11 miles of 34,500 volt line between Stanton and Nelson — $72,500; build 11 miles of 34,500 volt line between Stanton and Piler — $75,000; bolster services in the 34,500 volt line between Pleasant Dale and St. Paul — $25,000; build one new and improve other 34,500 volt lines in the Scottsbluff area — $13,000; build about 3 miles of double circuit 69,000 volt line between Gordon and Merriman — $70,000.

Schacht gave the following expenditures for CPPD's breakdown for all planned construction and equipment expenditures for CPPD's 11 state wide operating districts: Ogallala — $230,430; Chadron — $523,875; Scottsbluff — $679,480; Beatrice — $368,600; Lincoln — $1,107,975; Plattsmouth — $115,900; Columbus — $230,300; Norfolk — $458,450; O'Neill — $499,470; Kearney — $518,115; York — $583,278.

CPPD Meets Growth With Larger Budget

"Because Lincoln is growing we need to spend more money to service the community," said Dale Renner, manager of the Lincoln district of Consumers Public Power District Friday.

Renner reported the budget for 1961 at $1,107,975. The 1960 total was $1,039,680.

Of the 1961 total, $625,000 has been appropriated for distribution line projects; $100,000 for transmission work; $300,000 for substation projects; $25,700 for rural equipment and improvement; $5,100 for steam heat; and the remaining $52,125 for tools, office equipment, transportation units and miscellaneous items.

New Areas

The main projects under distribution will be to supply power to new Lincoln residential areas—Wedgewood Manor east of 70th from O to A Sts., and O St. to Holdrege from 75th to 84th. This will cost about $65,000.

Some $235,500 has been set aside for distribution transformers, meters and related equipment, according to Renner.

Work in downtown Lincoln to protect underground cables and transformers will cost $70,000.

Suit Asks $50,000 For Traffic Injuries

Walter R. Holweger of the Lincoln Air Force Base filed a $50,000 damage suit Friday in Lancaster District Court against Richard Kelley of Douglas County.

Holweger alleges he was injured Feb. 6 when struck by a car driven by Kelley while walking along U.S. 34 about a mile north of Lincoln.

Police said Y St. between 18th and 19th will be closed from Dec. 21-26 for railroad crossing repairs.

Co. Attorney Studying Case Of Shoplifter

Dep. Co. Atty. Bernard Wishnow said Friday the case of a 28-year-old man arrested twice in the last 3 weeks for shoplifting is "under study."

No criminal charges have been filed against the man for either offense as yet.

The man was arrested Nov. 25 and admitted he had stolen the $52.14 in merchandise in his possession from 3 downtown stores. At that time he was lectured by chief Dept. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas.

Police arrested the man and released.

again Thursday and the admitted the theft of a pair of gloves in his possession from a local store.

Wishnow said Friday the man has been under psychiatric care and he may be sent to the University of Nebraska psychiatric unit for treatment.

Wishnow said the fact that the man is related to a local attorney had nothing to do with the fact that no criminal charges have been placed against him.

"Just Then"

...the thought occurred, who of us can escape accident, sickness, death... the common lot of mankind?" We do well to buy accident or hospitalization insurance. But only God can prepare our minds for enforced leisure and to endure suffering. His church and the inspiration of His Holy Word bring more of sunshine than of shadow. Of course the visit of a friend or the helping hand of a loved one minimizes the bondage of this wheelchair and helps us remember that the future is in His keeping. For He said, "They who wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength."

OLD FASHIONED CHRISTMAS

BY PAUL ENGLE

child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy."

When I saw that tree, I rejoiced with exceeding great joy, for I knew the Day above all other days was close at hand. My bag of papers seemed lighter, and I knew that each time I walked up that street, laid out in the unique American manner, a mile straight before it curved, there would be more trees shining out into the cold, gay air.

Knew the People

There was another thing I came to know along that length of houses: the people who lived there. I knew which houses had old men who dug around the yard in May, and would give me cuttings of roses and wax begonias to put in my bag and take home to start in our own yard.

More than that, I knew which houses had people who always gave the paper boy a token on Christmas Eve.

There were families which had their tree in a room shut off from the rest of the house until Christmas morning, and there were a few which, sadly, never put up a tree at all. But no matter what they did in advance of the Day, I distinguished the houses quite selfishly in terms of those who always had a gift for me, and those which did not.

One thing I discovered—the houses which began decorating early, with a wreath at door and window and a tree large and gaily hung with ornaments, were most likely to remember the paper boy.

Warmed Up Customers

For days ahead I began warming up my customers by making certain they thought of me. I would throw the paper up against the door with a brisk bang. This became easier to do as the editions became heavier, so that close to Christmas my route became a succession of formidable thuds as the thick papers struck door and porch.

Toward the end of the route, which went up to the last houses at the edge of the city, people would hear the paper and invite me in to get warm. My oldest customers knew that I had a long walk home, and understood that the trudge out from the center of town to the edge would chill any boy.

In somewhat the same way that hoboos are supposed to mark houses where they will get a generous reception, I had a precise knowledge of the places where I could expect a Christmas gift.

There was the last survivor of the Charge of the Light Brigade, a venerable Englishman who in summer gave me roses from plants he had brought from England. It was hard to imagine him as a young trooper riding into immortality on a fine bay horse, this quiet man digging in the black dirt which was such a wonder to him. But he had the saber and insignia to prove it.

A Fruit Cake

He would wait for me on Christmas Eve, and I had orders to stop and knock. Inside, he would give me a fruit cake smelling richly of wine, and a half dollar inside it. Standing there erect but gentle, and homesick for the green shire he would never see again, he would say, "Here, boy, real English cake, good for you in the winter."

The gifts would start quite close to the beginning of the route, so that as I went along throwing papers up to the doors my bag would empty of the solid newspapers but I would replace them with little packages of gifts.

It was a comfort to me that the first gifts of all which I received were not from my own family, but from the people whom I was paid to serve. I was careful in throwing the paper on the porch on warm evenings not to hit the baby playing in its pen, to break no windows, not to leave it on the roof or under bushes.

They were glad to have me bring the daily record of what seemed worth praise or fear or shame or anger in the country and in the world. And I was glad to have a modest recognition once a year of their kind thought of me. It was a cheerful relationship, and gave me a much more sympathetic view of life than later years would allow.

An ironic and skeptical attitude toward experience is often right and fine, but there is a wisdom of kindness, too. I was lucky to discover that young, carrying newspapers on Christmas Eve.

NEXT — A Handmade Christmas. Somehow the handmade gifts had more meaning than the kind we give now.

Apparent Low Bidders Told On Highway Work

... Road Building Hits Record

Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. of Omaha was the apparent low bidder Friday on a 1.8-mile paving project on the Interstate Highway with a low bid of $2,274,055, one of the largest Nebraska Interstate projects.

The project, located between Frederick Street and Dewey Avenue in Omaha, calls for grading, pavement, culverts, bridges, guard rail, fence, traffic signal system and a highway lighting system.

The Kiewit Sons' Co. also hauled in another big Interstate project with a low bid of $1,593,921 on a 0.3-mile project near 31st and Grover in Omaha.

Construction on this project includes grading, pavement, culverts, 5 bridges and fence.

The low bids were part of an estimated $7,500,000 letting on Nebraska highway projects, the last letting of 1960.

Total low bids on the projects announced Friday were $6,911,440 which boosted the state to a record road-building year.

$2 Million Over Record

Total construction contracted for this year was brought to $42,981,781 with Friday's contract awards, over $2 million above the previous high of $40,656,171 in 1958.

Total contracts awarded in 1959 was $32,328,082.

Construction contracts on the Interstate also set a record for 1960. Friday's low bids for Interstate work totaled $4,981,989 bringing the total for the year to $20,180,623, double the amount for any previous year.

Another big Interstate project in the letting consisting of 0.4 of a mile south of Grand Island in Hall County was split up into 3 contracts. Largest chunk for grading, pavement, culverts and guard rail went to the Missouri Valley Construction Co. of Grand Island with a low bid of $560,607.

The Missouri Valley Co. also submitted the low bid of $200,507 for the two bridges in the project. Wrenn and Taylor of Grand Island submitted a low bid of $8,259 for the fence work.

—Douglas County, Lincoln-Omaha road near Omaha, bridges, Jensen Construction Co. and United Contractors Co., Des Moines, $253,767.

—Douglas, Lincoln-Omaha road near Omaha, 0.7 miles, grading, culverts, Roberts Construction Co. of Lincoln, $89,874.

Other contracts awarded: —Blaine, Punning-Brewster, 6.4 mile, grading, culverts guard rail, armor coat, Missouri Valley Construction Co., Grand Island, $147,353.

—Hall, Doniphan-Grand Island, bridges, Jensen Construction Co. and United Contractors Co., $474,546. The same two companies also submitted low bid of $20,079 for another bridge project in same location.

Johnson, Elk Creek north, 2.2, crushed rock, Nelson Quarries, Inc., Auburn, $6,972.

—Franklin, Bloomington-Hildreth, concrete box culvert, Western Bridge and Construction Co., Omaha, $2,804.

—Pierce, Pierce east, 5.1, grading and detour, Theisen Brothers, Osmond, $85,093; culverts, Hall Construction Co., Lynch, $12,845; bridges, Beatrice Construction Co., Inc., Beatrice, $118,588; guard rail, subgrade stabilization, asphalt, Blacktop, Inc., Fremont, $167,897.

—Frontier, Curtis-Moorefield, 5.5, grading, Missouri Valley Construction Co., $88,223; gravel for detour Worley Sand and Gravel, Curtis, $4,451; culverts, Missouri Valley Construction Co., $24,278; guard rail asphalt subbase, Missouri Valley, $169,548.

—Scotts Bluff, Minatare north, concrete box culverts, Beatrice Construction Co., $29,431.

—Butler, Bellwood east and west, grading and gravel, Missouri Valley $92,476; culverts, Missouri Valley, $33,093; bridges, Missouri Valley, $70,867; asphalt and subbase, Missouri Valley, $276,020.

—Douglas, Fremont-Valley, Valley west and Omaha-Hallam, pavement, Gillett Construction Co., Omaha, $31,678.

Of the road total $6,879,783 was in construction and $31,678 was in maintenance funds.

Omaha Gas War Prices Continue

Omaha (AP) — Motorists continued to get bargains in gasoline here Friday in a continuing pre-Christmas gas war.

Prices fell last weekend. Since then independent stations have sold regular gasoline as low as 23.9. Majors dropped prices to a bottom of 25.9.

Regular gasoline previously had been selling from 30.9 to 34.9 cents a gallon.

In Service Circles

BY DORIS SMITH

Gledelig Jul, Feliz Navidad, Hara Hrustougena, Buon Natale, Herzlichste Weihnachten — these and the many other greetings from around the world strengthen our bonds of friendship as everyone prepares for the gayest holiday of the year—Christmas!

This Saturday evening finds people getting in tune with the season by having an evening out for dinner and dancing at the festive new club. Members of the 424th held their party on Friday evening, while the 372nd and the 343rd will gather on Saturday evening.

Mrs. M. R. Heick is arriving from San Francisco, Calif., to spend the holidays with her daughter and family, Col. and Mrs. Walter R. Berg.

It will be a fun afternoon when Mrs. Gabriel A. Kardong entertains 35 guests at an open house on Tuesday.

College students are wending their way home and this week end finds Billie Jean Miller arriving from Wisconsin State Teacher's College at Eau Claire along with her houseguest Gretchen Blume from Shell Lake, Wis.

Ronald L. Munson, student at University of Wichita, will be joining the family the early part of next week.

Mrs. William Eichenberger's home was the gathering spot for Brownie Troop No. 291 when they honored their departing leader, Mrs. Olin Shepherd, with a coffee and farewell gift.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert K. Scudder and three children will be calling Vandenberg AFB, Calif., home in the very near future, and the PCS finds the Major being newly assigned to the 394th Missile Squadron.

Maj. and Mrs. John C. Mealka entertained with a

Wednesday evening dinner party in honor of the Scudders, and Friday evening found Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. M. Munson entertaining for the departing couple.

Maj. and Mrs. C. C. Eddy are hosting a dinner party in honor of five couples on Saturday evening.

Mrs. William Montgomery entertained Marge Whitely with a neighborhood farewell coffee, Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Whitely and five children will be residing in Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Howard Morton, mother of Mrs. George W. Danner, planned in from Santa Barbara, Calif., to spend the holidays with the family.

New Officers

At a recent meeting of the High Street Steppers Square Dance Club, the members elected Louis Hoffman president of the group. Don Reddish will serve as the club's representative on the Square Dance Council.

Town Talk

—Wonder what everyone will do with his time after Jan. 1. Certainly there have been no idle moments up to now, and we can't find any in foreseeable future.

This morning we have some parties to mention and, of course, some guests who have come from far away places.

—Yesterday was an exceptionally busy day for Mrs. Richard W. Hamilton and her mother, Mrs. A. H. Lock. On Friday morning Mrs. Hamilton was a 10 o'clock-to-12 o'clock coffee hostess when she entertained a group of her friends at the home of Mrs. Lock.

And on Friday afternoon Mrs. Lock was a tea hostess at her home when she invited friends for the hours of 3 o'clock-to-5 o'clock.

—The Holiday Club is having its Christmas dinner dance on Saturday evening at the Lincoln Country Club, and its guest couples will include Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pegler, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wake of Seward; Mr. and Mrs. James Lantz, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Walt and Mr. and Mrs. John Lawlor.

—Judibana, Venezuela sounds a long, long way from Lincoln — Actually it is, but from Judibana to Lincoln have come Mr. and Mrs. John Whitlock and their four children, Ned, Nora, Hallie and Sharla, who will spend the holidays as the guests of Mr. Whitlock's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Whitlock.

—On the calendar for next Tuesday evening is the Fifty Club Christmas dinner dance which will be held at the Lincoln Country Club. In charge of the party arrangements is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorgensen, chairman; Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mussehl, Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Zane Fairchild, Dr. and Mrs. F. S. Vogelsang, Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parrott.

Honored At Pre-Nuptial Party

A busy, winter bride-elect is Miss Mitzi Lee of Broken Bow, whose marriage to John Albers of Wisner will take place on Thursday, Dec. 22. The ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist Church in Broken Bow.

Miss Lee was honored at a dessert supper and personal shower Thursday evening when Miss Jane Good, Miss Susan Crooker and Miss Sarah Stenten entertained at the Stenten home. The guest list included Kappa

Fun News In Suburbia

PARK MANOR

On the calendar Wednesday afternoon was a bridge-luncheon given by Mrs. Don R. Bergmann at her home. The guests included Mrs. George Binger, Mrs. Bill Norris, Mrs. Kenneth Broyle, Mrs. Francis Neumeyer, Mrs. Kenneth Popp, Mrs. Stan Stroh, and Mrs. Wendell Mayfield.

And this evening finds Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fleming entertaining their supper bridge club at home. Seated at the card tables after dinner will be Dr. and Mrs. James Drew, Lt. and Mrs. Loren Kenesick, Mr. and Mrs. William Colville, and Mr. and Mrs. Fleming.

It is our pleasure to introduce this morning little Miss Nancy Ellen Moreland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Moreland, who made her debut at Lincoln General Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 6. The other members of the younger generation include Julie, David, and Brian.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moreland of Warrensburg, Pa.

And another addition to the bassinet brigade is Kristine Ann Kreiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kreiner, who made her appearance on Sunday, Nov. 20, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Kristine has a four-year-old sister, Kathryn.

Mrs. Kreiner is the former Isla Dunse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Dunse of Republican City. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kreiner of Davey are the paternal grandparents.

PATRICIAN HEIGHTS

News from Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thorn tells us that they are parents of a son, Todd William, who was born on Wednesday, Nov. 30, at Lincoln General Hospital. Todd has a sister, Lori Lynn, who was a year old old Wednesday.

Mrs. Thorn is the former Betty Kobbervig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kobbervig of Climax, Minn. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Thorn of Beaver City.

And a part of every Christmas holiday are the many cookie exchanges which have become so popular. Exchanging cookies and their recipes Tuesday morning were ten friends of Mrs. Dayle Johnson who was hostess at her home.

A glance in the birthday book tells us that Patricia Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Ramsey, will be 10 years old Wednesday. Patricia plans to entertain a group of her contemporaries that evening at a dinner and theatre party.

Chatter—in the—Corridor

BY STEVIE DORT

Start to state with Central! These words were hung in the main corridor at LSE last week as everyone anxiously awaited the first swim meet of the season between Southeast and Omaha Central. Coach John Reta predicted Central would be "one of our toughest foes." The meet was over, the score 52-34, the Southeast fans cheering loudly. Southeast was on its way to state championship for the third time. The LSE swimmers took 7 out of 10 first places. Keep it up boys!

We'll do anything for the CLARION. Meeting at 7 o'clock in the morning in the Southeast cafeteria Friday morning, the CLARION staff had its Christmas breakfast. This breakfast served a double purpose: to fold and stamp Merry Christmas on the newspapers and as a Christmas party.

Members of the LSE Sextet and Octet have been singing in the downtown stores during the evenings.

Tonight's the Knight's night! The Southeast cagers will meet Omaha South in Omaha tonight. This will be the first meeting of the two since last year's State Basketball Tournament. South is the state Champions, while Lincoln Southeast is the second place in the state. A bus load of LSE fans will make the trip to Omaha. GO! FIGHT! WIN!

Opening lead — nine of clubs.

A hand reported by the British expert, Albert Benjamin, in Bridge Magazine, has some interesting aspects. It was played in a team of four match.

At the first table, South made a good guess when he played the ten of clubs from dummy, winning East's king with the ace. Declarer led the king of spades which West took with the ace.

After winning the club return, South cashed three spades and the A-Q of diamonds, West showing out. Declarer then played a diamond to the king and a diamond back. East, in with the jack, and with only the A-J-6 of hearts left, had to return a heart, permitting dummy's last diamond and the king of hearts to make tricks.

As a result, South made ten tricks for a score of 630 points.

At the second table, the nine of clubs was also opened against three notrump. The unlucky declarer at this table, having little to go by, played the queen from dummy. East covered with the king, which South ducked, and returned a club.

South took the ace and cashed the A-Q of diamonds, West showing out. With things going from bad to worse, declarer hopefully led the ten of spades.

West, unwilling to look a gift horse in the mouth, grabbed the ace and ran his clubs. With four tricks to go, this became the position:

West led the last club and South could take no more tricks! Dummy discarded a heart, East a diamond, and declarer a heart. The queen of hearts lead provided the coup de grace.

So the outcome was that North-South made ten tricks at one table, while at the other table, with the same opening lead, East-West made ten tricks!

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am so ashamed of myself I could just die, but maybe if I put this down on paper it will help.

I am a respectable woman of 35. I have a good husband and three lovely children and I haven't a thing to complain about. My problem is I find myself terribly attracted to the man who checks out my groceries. I get all dolled up to go marketing and I know I go there more than I should just to see him (I even buy things I don't need). All he has to do is look at me and my heart beats like a trip hammer. I haven't felt like this since I was in high school!

He calls me "Mrs. Sunshine" and I call him "Mr. Super" (for super market), but I think he took me wrong. It's only a harmless flirtation, but how does a grown woman get over something like this? I even dream about him.

TRUE CONFESSION
DEAR TRUE: All serious entanglements start with a "harmless flirtation." Nip this little attraction in the bud and take your business across the street. And remember, you aren't "in the market" for anything but groceries.

DEAR ABBY: Don't you think when a gentleman marries for the second time he should be honest with the lady concerning his health? I recently married a man who is 76. He had surgery a year before we were married. I realize he can't help this, but he never gave me a hint of his condition. I am not an old woman (I am 70) and would enjoy something besides a lovely home and companionship. He said he wouldn't blame me if I got a boyfriend as long as he never found out. I am not that kind of a person and would never do such a thing. Had I known of his condition I wouldn't have married him. Is there a solution?

MISLED
DEAR MISLED: Most women of 70 marrying a man of 76 would be content to settle for a "lovely home and companionship," but if you are not, and were indeed "misled," there IS a solution. Talk to your clergyman or an attorney about an annulment.

DEAR ABBY: I just found out that a woman comes to this town almost every week-end to see my husband. She is married and has children. I could tell her husband and break up her home but I hate to do that to innocent children. Please put this in the paper for my husband to see. He never misses your column. I want him to know I am on to them. If they don't stop seeing each other I will be forced to tell her husband. I can't stand it any more. "HAD ENOUGH"

Homebound Pupils Have Party

The sound of carols filled the halls of the Public School Administration Bldg. on Friday afternoon when the Lincoln homebound pupils held their annual Christmas party.

A puppet show given by the Junior League of Lincoln, refreshments, gifts and favors highlighted the party, which is sponsored by the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers.

BRIDES AT FRIDAY WEDDINGS BRIDES

February Bride - Elect

MRS. GARY L. AKSAMIT

MRS. JAMES DAVID GREER

For the wedding of Miss Donna Lee Gies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gies of North Platte, to Gary L. Aksamit of Denver, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Aksamit of Crete, which took place on Friday evening, Dec. 16, the living room of the Lutheran Student House on the University of Nebraska campus was decorated with Christmas pine, lighted with candles and a mantle arrangement of white chrysanthemums touched with glitter. The 7 o'clock ceremony, which took place before the fireplace, was solemnized by the Rev. Alvin Petersen.

Sheath frocks of green velvet were chosen for the bride and bridesmaids. The bridesmaids included Mrs. Joseph Bollish of Fremont, her sister's matron of honor; and bridesmaids Mrs. Lowell Johnson of Lincoln and Mrs. Don Haase of Hastings. Their brief brow veils reflected the tone of their frocks and were held in place with circlets of green velvet. Each carried a cascade bouquet of glittered white chrysanthemums and pom poms. The candles were lighted by Miss Jane Luchsinger of Schuyler, and Mrs. Ted Dewey, Mark Bollish of Fremont was the ringbearer, and Lori Patton of Crete was the flower girl.

Joseph Bollish of Fremont served as best man, and the ushers were Charles Arizum of Honolulu, Hawaii; Michael Milroy of North Platte; Harold Johnson and Ted Dewey.

The bride appeared in a gown of white taffeta. The snugly fitted bodice, designed with a cameo neckline, framed with re-embroidered Alencon lace, and pleated magnum sleeves, narrowed to a slender waist above the extremely bouffant skirt ornamented with a wide band of pleating and appliques of lace. A taffeta temple held to the head her elbow-length veil, and she carried a white prayer book ornamented with garnet rosebuds.

Following a honeymoon trip to Colorado, Mr. Aksamit and his bride will reside at 1035 Sherman, Apt. 305, in Denver.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Aksamit, also a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, now is attending Denver University Law School.

An all white motif was introduced in the decor and the costumes at the wedding of Miss Sharyn Lee Tennant of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Tennant of Greenwood, and James David Greer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon F. Greer of Waverly, which took place at 7 o'clock on Friday evening, Dec. 16, at the Greenwood Methodist Church. The Rev. Nye C. Bond of Lincoln solemnized the service and the wedding music was played by Mrs. John Loder. Mrs. James Forrest was the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Kenneth Moore of Holmesville, the matron of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Pauline Elssasser of Lincoln and Miss Mary Greer of Waverly, wore alike full-skirted frocks of white faille belted in self material. Their hair bandeaux were of white velvet and each carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Thomas Greer of Waverly served as best man, and seating the guests were Robert Ambrosek, Roy Arnold, both of Lincoln; Jerry Barger of Waverly; Lonnie Tennant and David Tennant.

The bride chose a gown of white taffeta for her wedding. The bodice, designed with a portrait neckline contoured with pearls and sequins, and bracelet-length sleeves, was patterned with pearl-embroidered lace which was repeated in medallions on the bouffant skirt, complete with a cathedral train. A crown of jeweled lace over taffeta held in place the veil of illusion and she carried a white prayer book ornamented with white orchids encircled with stephanotis.

Following a reception in the church parlors Mr. Greer and his bride left for a short honeymoon trip after which they will reside at 2718 O St., Apt. B.

Mr. Greer is a junior at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and is a member of Farm House fraternity, and Alpha Zeta.

A bride-elect of the holiday season is Miss Susie Sidell, whose marriage to Roger Brandt of Hot Springs, S.D., will be an event of New Year's Day at Trinity Methodist Church.

Miss Sidell, who will return home to Lincoln on Saturday from Ft. Collins, Colo., where she attends Colorado State University, will be honored at a dessert supper Tuesday evening given by Miss Linda Joyce at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Joyce. The soon-to-be bride will be presented with a personal shower.

And the following evening Miss Linda Bastian will entertain at home in Miss Sidell's honor. Following the dessert supper, the guests will present the honoree with a kitchen and linen shower.

A busy winter bride-to-be is Miss Mitzi Lee of Broken Bow, who will become the bride of John Albers of Wisner, on Thursday, Dec. 22. The 4 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at the First Methodist Church in Broken Bow.

Miss Lee has chosen her twin sister, Miss Kitz Lee, to be her maid of honor. The sister of the bridegroom-elect Mrs. J. F. Mesmer, Jr., of Wisner will be the matron of honor. Lighting the candles will be Miss Susan Crooker of Auburn, and Miss Mary Thompson of Alma.

Miss Sarah Mesmer of Wisner will be her aunt's flower girl, and Johnny Fanks of Lexington will be ring-bearer.

Serving as best man will be Herbert Albers, Jr., of Wisner. Seating the guests will be J. F. Mesmer, Jr., of Wisner; J. Thomas Rosch of Omaha; and Robert Ross of Bellevue.

Honoree at a pre-nuptial courtesy Sunday afternoon will be Miss Carolyn Frey, who will become the bride of Lowell Hansen of Sioux Falls, S.D., on Saturday, Feb. 4. Hostesses for the party will be Miss Nancy Stefanisin, Miss Jeannine Fenton, Miss Sharon Smith, and Miss Marty Davey who will entertain at the home of Miss Davey.

Following the dessert-luncheon, the winter bride-to-be will be presented with a miscellaneous shower by the guests, all former high school classmates.

Also making announcement of her bridal party this morning is Miss Karen Fagler, who will become the bride of Lt. Jack Meyer of Roswell, N.M., on Saturday, Dec. 31. The 10 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at St. John's Catholic Church.

For her honor attendant, Miss Fagler has chosen Miss Sandi Curtiss and the sister of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. Guy Dean, will be bridesmatron. The bridesmaids will be Miss Diane Shrader and Miss Gwen Eirick.

The flower girl will be Nancy Newcomb, and Michael Klein will be ringbearer.

Serving as best man will be Arthur Armbrust of Omaha. The corps of ushers will include Robert Hans, Marlen Luff, and Guy Dean.

A recent pre-nuptial courtesy for the winter bride-elect was given Saturday afternoon, Dec. 10, when Mrs. J. C. Hofferberg entertained at a dessert luncheon and miscellaneous shower at home for her granddaughter.

MISS JUDITH ANN LEWIS

Announcement is being made this morning of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Judith Ann Lewis of Grand Island, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Lewis of Omaha, to Harold F. Rosenkott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Rosenkott of Grand Island.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Feb. 4, and the service will be solemnized at Grace Lutheran Church in Grand Island.

Miss Lewis is a former student at Dukes College in Omaha and a graduate of St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing in Grand Island, where she is a member of the nursing staff.

Her fiancé attended the University of Nebraska.

Penn State's Power Meets Oregon Speed

... NITTANY LIONS 7-POINT LIBERTY PICK

Philadelphia (AP) — Penn State pits its power and depth against Oregon's speed in the second annual Liberty Bowl football game at Philadelphia Stadium today.

State is a 7-point favorite for the nationally televised game (NBC) based on its strong regular season finish, winning its last 4 games.

The Nittany Lions of coach Rip Engle won 6 and lost 3, defeating Army, Maryland, Holy Cross, Pittsburgh, Boston U. and West Virginia, and losing to Missouri, Syracuse and Illinois.

Oregon Long & Short ... Riley Mattson (left), Ron Anderson, Both 6-5, Hold Cleveland Jones, 5-3 And 148 Pounds.

Alabama-Texas Game Sold Out

... TIDE FAVORED BY 1 POINT

Houston, (AP) — Alabama, a one-point favorite, meets Texas today before a crowd of 70,000 in a Bluebonnet Bowl battle matching two veteran bowl-game schools.

Alabama rates the narrow edge on strength of an 8-1-1 record the Crimson Tide compiled despite a plague of injuries. Texas had a 7-3 season and lost its 3 games by a total of only 9 points.

Standing-room-only tickets went on sale Friday for the Rive University Stadium game that will be televised nationally (1 p.m., CST, CBS).

Each team will pick up over $100,000 while trying to start a new winning streak for post-season classics.

Vet Bowlers

Alabama will be making its 14th appearance in a bowl game, Texas its 10th. But both schools have lost their last two post-season tests.

Rice Stadium offers unhappy memories for both coaches. Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama brought Texas A&M here as the No. 1 team in the nation in 1957 and was defeated 7-6 by Rice in a Southwest Conference game.

In 1958 Darrell Royal's Longhorns came to town undefeated and untied and with a No. 4 ranking only to be defeated by the Owls 34-7.

Alabama and Texas move into the Bluebonnet Bowl with impressive defensive records and offenses that have averaged nearly 3 touchdowns a game.

Tide Outweighed

Despite being outweighed in 9 of 10 regular season games, Alabama limited the opposition to 5.3 points a game. The Tide's line will be outweighed again today, averaging 193 pounds to 205 for the Steers.

Texas has limited 10 opponents to a 7.5-point average, the school's best defensive record since the 1947 edition of the Longhorns moved into the Sugar Bowl with a 9-1 record and defeated Alabama, 27-7.

Bryant alternates two quarterbacks, Pat Trammell and Bobby Skelton, who share honors as the leading runner and leading passer for the Tide.

Oregon coach Len Casanova has expressed concern about the weather, cold and snow in these parts for about a week. Fourteen inches of snow fell last Sunday and Monday and flurries sprinkled the area again Friday.

The weather bureau, however, predicts a clear day with a high of 30 degrees. The kickoff is at 12 noon. (CST).

Oregon never has played on a field even encircled by snow," said Casanova as he eyed the huge drifts rimming the playing area. The field, covered by a heavy tarpaulin, should be dry.

A crowd of about 18,000 is expected at the 100,000 seat stadium—scene of the annual Army-Navy game. Bowl officials estimate each team should carry home between $50,000 and $60,000.

Engle, usually a pessimist, confidently predicted his State team would win. He expects depth and heft to wear down the Ducks. Engle alternates two units—he calls them his 22 man first team—without any noticeable drop in effectiveness.

Offensively, State counts on Jim Kerr, a sturdy halfback who gained 389-yards this season; Sam Sobczak, a hard driving fullback, and Don Jonas, another rugged halfback.

Wesleyan Gets Past Omaha U.

Omaha (UPI) — Nebraska Wesleyan University handed Omaha University an 83-63 whipping at the OU Fieldhouse here Friday night, the 7th defeat this season for the Indians against no victories.

It was a sensational display of talent at the free throw line by the visiting Plainsmen that highlighted the contest as the winners hit 35 of 42 charity tosses.

Wesleyan also outshot the Indians from the floor hitting a percentage of 39.8 compared to Omaha's 29.9.

The home club held the invaders in fairly close check throughout most of the first half, although the Plainsmen had built up a 40-27 lead by halftime.

The lead changed hands 11 times and the score was tied 11 times during the first half. OU marksmen were even colder the second half and Wesleyan gradually pulled out of reach.

Dennis Semin led Wesleyan scoring with 23 points while Bill Derra paced the Indians with 16 points.

NWU hosts Dakota Wesleyan at Taylor Gym tonight. The Plainsmen take a 2-3 record into the 7:30 affair.

Unbeaten Ranks Lose 2

Pittsburgh (AP) — Colgate and Tennessee were knocked from the ranks of the undefeated Friday night. The University of Pittsburgh downed Colgate 78-62 and Duquesne upended Tennessee 79-64 in the opening round of the Steel Bowl.

—DETROIT TONIGHT, CINCINNATI MONDAY—

NU Takes To Road

Coach Jerry Bush might get some sort of a hint tonight when his Cornhuskers invade Detroit University for their first road game of the campaign.

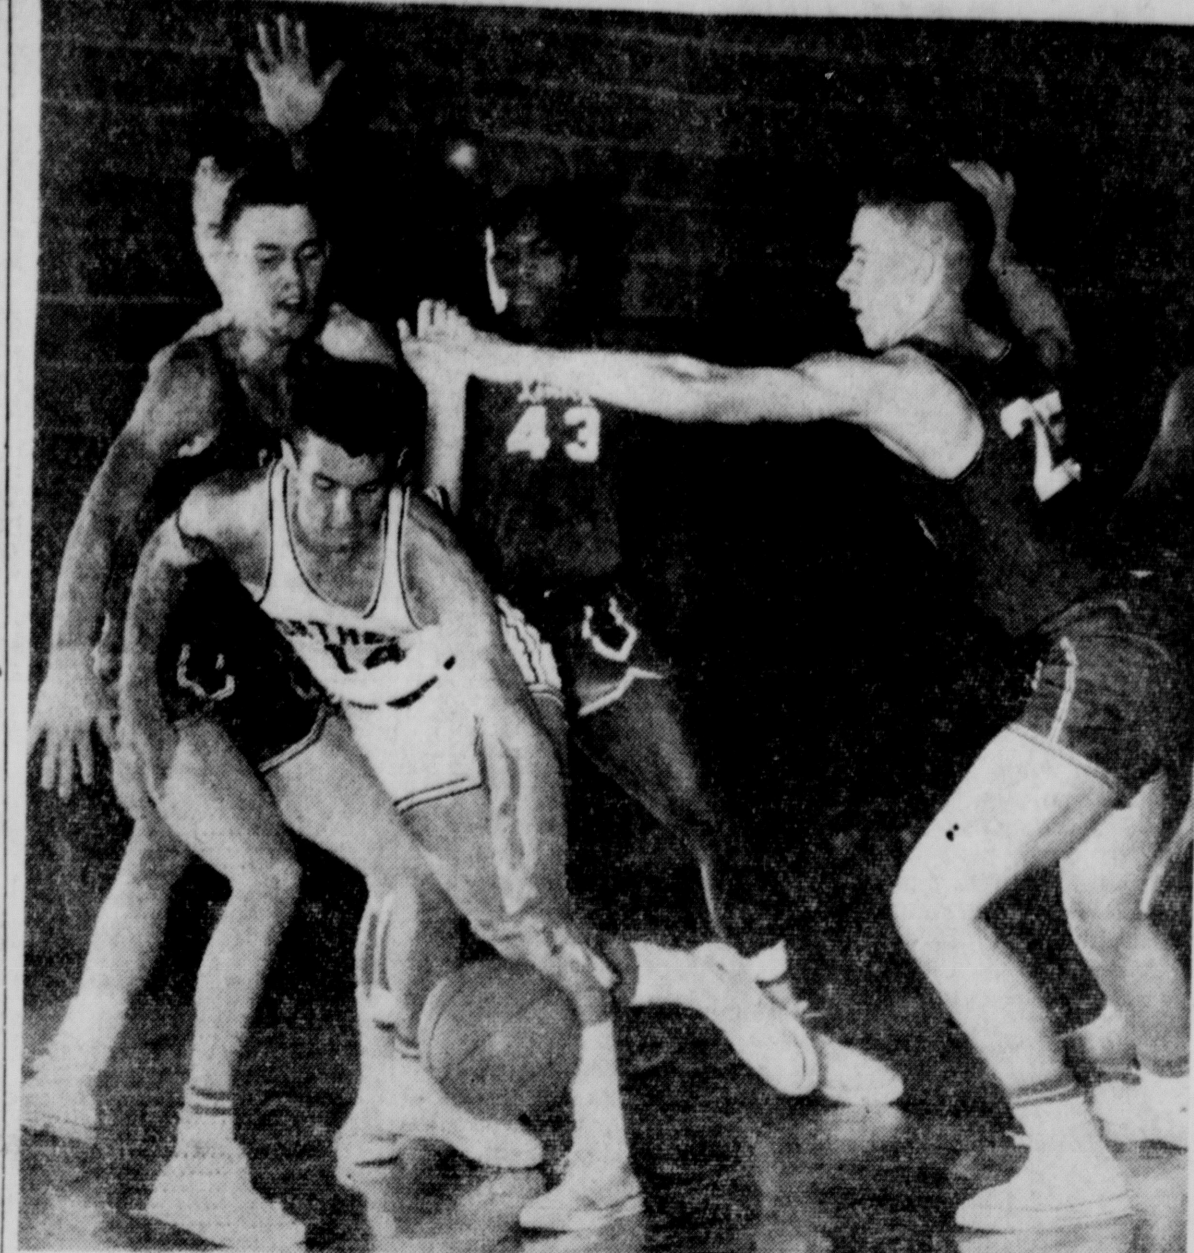

Monday night finds NU at Cincinnati.

The Huskers have their work cut out for them.

Detroit is ranked 3rd in the nation. Cincinnati is 10th.

Detroit (3-1) has a sure-fire All-America in Dave DeBusschere (6-5). The Titans' other shotgun is 6-5 Charlie North.

One of Detroit's triumphs this season was a 70-68 victory over Utah State. The Huskers defeated Utah State, 65-60, two nights later.

—GREEN BAY 10-POINT FAVORITE OVER RAMS TODAY—

Packers Choice For West Title

Los Angeles (AP) — The Green Bay Packers are favored by 10 points to defeat the injury-hit Los Angeles Rams today and wrap up the National Football League's Western Division title.

A crowd of 60,000 at Memorial Coliseum plus a national television audience will watch the battle as the Packers shoot for their first NFL championship since 1944. Kickoff will be at 3:35 CST.

Also keenly viewing the contest will be the Baltimore Colts, San Francisco 49ers and Detroit Lions. A Ram victory will throw the division into a 4-team race involving the Packers, Colts, 49ers and Lions.

In Sunday games, the Colts meet the 49ers, Chicago Bears play Detroit, Cleveland Browns face the New York Giants, Pittsburgh meets St. Louis, and Philadelphia plays Washington.

A clear, sunny day is forecast for the Packers-Ram battle, quite unlike the rainy sump at Kezar Stadium last week where the Paul Hornung-led Packers knocked off San Francisco 13-0.

Packer coach Vince Lombardi reported that his beef trust is in fine fettle, with Hornung and company rarin' to avenge a 33-31 loss to the Rams earlier this season.

Ram coach Bob Waterfield, on the other hand, was singing the blues, mean and lowdown. Injuries force 5 lineup changes.

Hopes brightened, however, with news from the training room that tackle John Baker and fullback Joe Marconi have a good chance of playing.

Quarterback Bart Starr will be in the T-formation saddle for Green Bay, directing what Ram coach Waterfield calls the best one-two punch in the NFL—Hornung and Jim Taylor.

Directing the Ram attack at quarterback will be Billy Wade, the lanky veteran who beat the Colts 10-3 last week on a 66-yard rollout.

KU, Kansas St. Sweep Sunflower Doubleheader

... MICHIGAN STATE, NO. CAROLINA VICTIMS

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — Larry Comley set a hot scoring pace of 33 points as the Kansas State Wildcats beat North Carolina's No. 5 nationally ranked Tar Heels 77-69 in overtime in the second game of a doubleheader Friday night.

The Kansas Jayhawks beat Michigan State's Spartans 93-69 in the first game. The teams move to Lawrence, Kan., tonight and change opponents.

The regulation game ended 65-65 as K-State's Ced Price missed a close hook shot that looped in and out with two seconds remaining.

Kansas State held North Carolina to two baskets in the overtime—a long poke by center Dick Kempley and one by York Larese—as the anxious Tar Heels fouled repeatedly.

Larese, a 6-4 back court shooter, topped the Tar Heels with 31 points.

The lead changed nine times and the score was tied six times in the hectic second half.

In the first half Kansas State led 19-16 at one stage then fell behind by 10 points twice before jump shots by Comley and Phil Heitmeier helped narrow North Carolina's halftime lead to 37-31.

K-State hit 30 of 37 from the field for 39.0 per cent. North Carolina hit 26 of 73 for 36.0 per cent.

It was Kansas State's 4th victory in a 6-2 mark. North Carolina has a 2-2 mark.

Kansas had an easier time against Michigan State, as Wayne Hightower led the attack with 25 points. Bill Bridges scored 13 points and 3 other Jayhawks counted 12.

Pint-sized Dave Fahs, a 5-9 guard, was Michigan State's main offensive threat with 18 points.

Kansas, which held a 48-30 halftime edge, owned 24-point buiges in the first half. The Jayhawks were in front 40-16 and 42-18 before the Spartans cut the margin.

It was Michigan State's first loss after two victories and Kansas' 3rd success in 4 games.

Kansas blew the game apart after 5 minutes with a 14-point scoring binge. The Jayhawks moved from 15-7 to 29-7 in 5 minutes.

Michigan State, with 6-7 sophomore center Ed Williams the only starter topping 6 feet 4, was forced into hurried off-balance shots. The Spartans connected on only 25 of 79 attempts for 32 per cent.

Kansas hit 37 of 79 for 47 per cent.

Auburn, 'Bama Win In Classic

Birmingham, Ala. (AP) — Auburn nosed Virginia Tech 76-73 on a free-throw accuracy and Alabama swamped Baylor 72-55 with a mighty second-half surge in the opening round of the Birmingham Classic basketball tournament Friday night.

Alabama, with its first victory of the season against 4 losses, faces cross-state rival Auburn for the championship tonight.

Baylor, still looking for its first victory of the season, meets VPI in a consolation game.

Rockets Notch 58-56 Triumph On Late Score

... EVERY PLAYER IS HERO

By Larry Novicki

Lincoln Northeast defeated Lincoln High in a basketball game Friday night, 58-56, and every boy who played was a hero.

There was Northeast sub, Ronnie Weyers, whose only basket of the game came a split second before the final buzzer to give the Rockets the hard-fought win.

And Lincoln's Bobby Williams, who outthrust every other player on the court before fouling out with 5:38 left.

Rocket star Earl Wright, who led all scorers with 21 points before he left the game on fouls just two seconds after Williams did.

Link substitutes Bob LaPage who coolly potted 3 free throws in the last two and a half minutes, and Mickey Snider, who dropped in a layup to give the Links a 56-52 lead with one minute left.

Rocket Skip Peterson whose 3 buckets kept Northeast close in the last minutes of the game.

The last quarter was hectic. Lincoln High led going into the final canto, 45-42.

NE Ties 46-46

The Rockets tied it at 46 all with 6:05 left on an easy layin by Wright and went ahead a moment later on pair of free tosses by Wright.

Then Williams and Wright both fouled out within two seconds. Five and a half minutes were left.

Northeast had lost 3 of its starters on fouls—Wright, Warren Lyon and Jim Nelson. Lincoln High was minus starters Williams and Loren Swanson, the leading rebounders in the game.

The game was in the hands of the subs.

With the score 50-49 Northeast, LaPage canned two free tosses to send the Links ahead.

But Rocket second-stringer Bruce Michaelson pushed in a fielder to put Northeast back in the lead, 52-51.

Then the Links' Mickey Snider, who wasn't listed on the program, broke around a defender and cashed in a perfect layup for a 53-52 Lincoln margin.

Jim Strain, the Links' long range sharp shooter, hit his 3rd looper of the night and LaPage added two more free tosses to give Lincoln a 56-52 lead with only one minute left.

Northeast's Bob Martin, another sub, bounced in a fielder from inside the free throw line, but the referees ruled he had been fouled before the shot. Martin made both charity throws on the one and one.

There were only 38 seconds left when Martin scored. Northeast got hold of the ball somehow in the Links' hectic scramble to bring it down court.

Peterson netted a short jumper to tie the score 56-56.

On the next toss-in, the Rockets tied up the ball, and gained control on the subsequent jump.

An alert Rocket passed to Weyers who was alone on the baseline about 10 feet from the bucket. The 5-10 senior swished a jump shot and the buzzer sounded somewhere amid the deafening roar of the capacity crowd.

The game started slowly. Northeast couldn't work its give-and-go patterns. Williams and Swanson controlled the boards.

Wright was the best basketball player in the game. Williams was the best hustler.

Battle Of Stars

The second quarter was a battle between the two stars, with Wright getting 11 points and Williams 8.

The 3rd period nod went to Wright and Dave Leback who each got 4 points while Williams was sitting on the bench with 4 fouls.

Lakers Get Ron Johnson

Los Angeles (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers purchased Ron Johnson, former University of Minnesota star, from the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

Charles Hellerich and Jim Dick gave Uni a good one-two scoring punch with 18 and 14 points.

Both teams made 19 field goals, and Cathedral hit only 12 of 27 free throws. Uni was 11-for-18 from the line.

Columbus Ekes By Crete, 43-41

By Al Beebe
Crete — Columbus managed a second period scoring surge for an 11-point halftime lead, but then had to hang on to score a 43-41 victory over Crete Friday night.

It was the 4th straight win for Columbus after an opening loss, and evened its Central 10 Conference mark at 1-1. Crete, 1-2 for the season, is now 0-1 in the East Central 10.

Crete quickly cut the big Columbus gap and moved to within one point on 4 occasions, but couldn't tie or go ahead.

Outside shooting by 5-7 Gene Stocklassa and 5-8 John Dietrich paced the Discoverers. Stocklassa scored 10 points in the first half, and pepped a rally which brought Columbus from a 4-1 deficit 5 minutes into the game to a 29-18 halftime lead.

Dietrich started that surge with 5 straight points.

But Roger Douglas, a 5-10 sophomore who didn't start, put some punch into Crete in the second period and paced the post-intermission rally. Douglas' 3-point play with 2:15 left in the 3rd quarter cut the lead to one point for the first time at 31-30.

Three more baskets by Douglas again cut the gaps to 34-33, 40-39, and 42-41, the latter with 2:45 to play.

But Columbus controlled play from there out, including through a missed free throw by each team. Larry Hulsebus hit a charity with 17 seconds left for the final margin.

Crete had one more chance, but this time Douglas missed the final shot.

Douglas and Stocklassa each had 16 points for the night. Hulsebus, generally Columbus' leading scorer, was held without a free throw by Crete's partial zone defense, but hit 9 free tosses. Columbus missed on 16 of 27 charities.

Columbus 43 18 7-43
Crete 41 15 8-41

Wayne Vs. Adams In Holiday Tourney

Wayne (A) — Wayne State and Adams State of Colorado are paired in Wayne's Christmas Holiday Basketball Tournament, Dec. 29-30.

Filling out the first-round bracket are St. Cloud State of Minnesota and Northern State of South Dakota.

St. Cloud has won or shared the crown in the Northern State college conference for the past 5 years, and Wayne State divided the Nebraska College Conference crown last year. Northern is a perennial power in the North Central Conference, and Adams State in the Rocky Mountain League.

Records Shattered As NU Tankers Tip Frosh

The University of Nebraska Varsity swimming team scored a decisive victory 69-36 Friday night as the two teams combined to break 3 varsity and 3 freshman records in the meet.

Times in all events either broke a varsity record or came very close which could give the Varsity a brighter outlook on their opening meet against Minnesota and Gustavus Adolphus at Minneapolis Jan. 7.

The results:
200 freestyle—1. Jay Groth, V. 2. Kuni Mihara, V. 3. Lynn Wolford, F. 2:22.2 (varsity record).

Oklahoma Wins But Not OSU

Houston, Tex., (AP) — Brian Etheridge led the University of Oklahoma to a 69-56 victory over Texas A&M Friday night in the second game of a Bluebonnet Bowl basketball double-header.

Tommy Thomson nudged the University of Houston to 56-54 decision over Oklahoma State in the first game.

Etheridge game by sinking a pair of free throws in the game's last moments.

Oklahoma swept through the two-day, two-state meet without a defeat.

Etheridge, the Sooners' 6-foot-8 ace, scored 23 points to make up for his 3-point production of Thursday night.

With the first game tied, 53-53, Thomson drove in for a layup but missed it when he was fouled. He made both his free throws and Houston headed toward victory.

State didn't score a field goal in the final 4:30 of the off-tied game.

McCook's Lake Will Be Named For Sen. Butler

Washington (UPI) — Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton announced Friday that a lake being formed behind Red Willow Creek Dam near McCook, Neb., will be named in honor of the late Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska.

Seaton said the reservoir will be called Lake Butler in honor of the former member of the Senate committee on interior and insular affairs. Butler served as senator from Nebraska for nearly 14 years. Seaton said of Butler that "during his lifetime he was always a strong proponent of reclamation and flood control, and was a leader in the enactment of the flood control act of 1944 which authorized the development of the Missouri River basin."

Midlanders Daze Dana By 84-53

Blair—Midland, overcoming early game Dana resistance, charged to a 19 point half-time bulge and eased to an 84-53 victory over the Vikings here Friday night.

Dana led 20-18 with 12 minutes gone in the first half, but the highly-touted Warriors recovered and surged into the command at intermission.

An abundance of fouls by the Dana regulars in the opening minutes of the contest hindered the Viking attempt to down the unbeaten Midlanders.

Dennis Groves led the victors with 19 points, closely followed by Larry Oltmanns with 17. Frank Grasso, floor general for the Vikings, chipped in 14 points.

Nellie Fox Broke Seven Big League Marks In '60

Boston (P) — Little Nellie Fox, Chicago's tobacco chewing second baseman, broke 7 major league records and tied another in the 1960 season.

Official American League records show Fox set major league records — actually an extension of marks he already owned — in these departments:

Years leading the league in putouts at second (9), consecutive games played at second (790), years leading in chances accepted at second (9), years leading in singles (8), consecutive years leading in singles (7), years leading in fewest strikeouts (9) and years with 600 or more times at bat (10).

In addition, he tied the major league record for years leading the league in double plays at second (5).

In all, 71 major and American League records — most of them obscure variety — were broken or tied this season.

Roger Maris, the powerful outfielder New York acquired from Kansas City, led the American League in slugging percentage with .581. He had 290 total bases on 77 singles, 18 doubles, 7 triples and 39 homers. His 112 runs batted in led the league.

Slugging percentage is derived by dividing times at bat into total bases. The Yankees' Mickey Man-

And a bunch of other guys who didn't know they were finished when defending champion Baltimore led them by a game and half only 3 weeks ago.

Those are some of the reasons why the Green Bay Packers are going to whip the Los Angeles Rams today, win the Western Conference title and meet the Philadelphia Eagles Dec. 26 for the NFL championship.

The score: Green Bay 31, Los Angeles 17.

See for yourself, on national TV at approximately 2:45 p.m., CST, immediately following the Bluebonnet Bowl game.

Off a 7-3 record last week and 39-27-5 for the season, here's how the rest of pro football's first weekend shapes up:

San Francisco 14, Baltimore 7 — One of 5 Sunday games in the NFL and an anti-climax after the Packers' victory. The result would be different if the Colts could take the field with a chance for the title.

Detroit 27, Chicago 14 — The Lions finish with 6 victories in their last 7, avenge the loss (28-7 to the Bears) and tie the 1957 record for second in the West. The victory also brings the Lions a spot in the NFL Runner-up Bowl at Miami Jan. 7 because of a 35-14 point edge in two regular-season games with San Francisco.

Cleveland 21, New York 17 — The Browns gain the Eastern berth in the Runner-up Bowl by stopping the Giants for the first time in 7 games since 1937. The Giants have enough spirit and desire to keep it close but too many injuries to win.

Philadelphia 35, Washington 7 — The Eagles prep for the Packers against a Washington defense that held the Giants to a minus 1 rushing and still lost 17-3 last week.

Pittsburgh 28, St. Louis 24 — Bobby Layne pitches the Steelers to their 4th straight victory, puts them over .500 for the first time this season and nails a 4th place in the East ahead of the Cards.

And in the American League, where the Jan. 1 title game is Los Angeles at Houston, the first season will end this way:

Denver 35, Oakland 24 — The Broncos snare 3rd in the Western Division and the Raiders get the cellar in this Saturday game.

New York 28, Los Angeles 21 — The Titans, already assured of second in the East, take advantage of the usual let-down by a division winner.

Houston 21, Boston 14 — The Oilers, however, go all out and complete the season with 19-4, best record among the 8 teams.

Dallas 28, Buffalo 21 — Abner Haynes wins the league's rushing title west to the second-place Texans. The Bills lose the first time this season and nails a 4th place in the East ahead of the Cards.

NU's Nebraskan Advocates Study Of De-Emphasis

The Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper at the University of Nebraska, carried an editorial advocating the school study the possibility of athletic de-emphasis.

Noting that Marquette and College of Pacific have de-emphasized their athletic programs, the editorial said: "Nebraska would do well to study this possibility rather than be dragged to the unfortunate level where much of the intercollegiate programs have fallen."

Revolt In Ethiopia Crushed

Haile Selassie Is Welcomed Home

Asmara, Ethiopia (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie, "King of Kings, Conquering Lion of Judah," returned in triumph Friday to recover his realm from revolutionaries who seized power two days ago.

The rebellion was reported crushed.

Selassie's eldest son, Haile Selassie Crown Prince Asfa Wessan, 44, was reported to have served the revolution only under duress, and remains faithful to his father, reliable sources said.

The 68-year-old, slight, bearded Selassie, survivor of many crises in his almost legendary career, chose to land here in the former Italian colony of Eritrea — now part of his realm — rather than in the embattled capital, Addis Ababa.

Flies From Brazil

As he touched down on Ethiopian soil after a long flight from an abruptly ended state visit to Brazil, he said:

"The rebellion against our father seems to have been stirred and acted by some ambitious men whose speeches seem irrational."

The revolutionaries, using Crown Prince Wessan as their mouthpiece on Addis Ababa Radio Wednesday and Thursday, had proclaimed their regime would promote social reforms to replace feudal customs dating from the pre-Christian era.

Selassie was asked whether the rebellion was staged by a foreign power. He replied:

"It is difficult to say whether it was provoked from the outside or from within."

Nearly the entire population cheered the emperor on his way from the airport to the official palace of Asmara.

The emperor emphatically denied that the crown prince took part in the rebellion.

"The rebels tried to make the prince their decoy," he declared.

Meet Star Carrier Tom Rathbun

Tom is the second member of the Rathbun family to carry a Lincoln newspaper route. His brother, Ronald, carried in Sterling, Neb., and Tom has handled his morning Lincoln Star route in their new hometown of Tecumseh for the past 8 months.

Aided by suggestions from his brother, Tom has done a good job of building and servicing his own newspaper business. He is using a regular checking account at the local bank to gain experience in that phase of his business training and to help him with his newspaper business records.

He leaves some of his profit in a Savings Account each collection period and uses part of the balance to buy his own clothes.

Tom realizes that every new customer he sells means more profit to him. His newest project was putting a news rack in his father's service station.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rathbun, are very happy with the fine business training their boys have received through their Lincoln newspaper routes.

Any young man interested in a Morning Lincoln Star route in his home town may write to the State Carrier Department of the Lincoln Star in Lincoln 1, Nebraska.

Munnely, Craft Delay Action On Redistrict Plans

Omaha (AP) — State Sen. John P. Munnely, Omaha, and senator-elect Cecil Craft, North Platte, spent 90 minutes talking over possible redistricting of Nebraska's Congressional districts and decided to take no immediate action.

Munnely remarked: "No two men are going to write a redistricting bill. We have decided to take no action until we can get together again with more legislators and others interested."

He said he and Craft differed on whether an east-west or a north-south division would be best for two outstate districts, leaving the present Second District as it is.

Nebraska is due to lose one of its 4 seats in the House of Representatives and Craft favors a north-south division of outstate areas.

Sanitary District To Plant 8,000 Trees Along Creek

Sanitary District No. 1 officially voted Friday to proceed with the planting of some 8,000 trees along Salt Creek from Van Dorn Street to Highway 77.

The estimated cost of the trees, the planting and upkeep is $5,000.

The Salt-Vahoo Watershed District had given its approval of providing maintenance of tree plantings.

Sanitary District Engineer Richard Devries suggested that the district begin planting immediately to see how the evergreens grow in the area.

General planting cannot be started until the Army Corps of Engineers present their final plans for levees and channel improvements on Salt Creek.

Control Erosion

According to George Knight, the trees will control creek bank erosion, keep down weeds, improve appearance, provide game refuge.

Decision On Mead Land Is Expected

Washington (AP) — A decision probably will be made early next year on the University of Nebraska's request for part of the Nebraska Ordinance Plant acreage.

This was the generally expected time schedule Friday in connection with the new surplus plant, which produced shells for the Army during World War II and the Korean War.

A spokesman for the General Services Administration, which is handling disposal of the plant, said the formal application on behalf of the University was received last week from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

7,000 Acres

The University is seeking between 7,000 and 8,000 acres of the site for an agricultural field laboratory. The plant, located near Mead, contains about 15,000 acres.

"We hope a decision on the school will be ready in a reasonably short length of time," the GSA spokesman said.

Man Fined $500 On Assault Count

Jerry D. Cunningham of 1302 Q was fined $500 on an assault and battery charge Friday by Lancaster County Judge Herbert A. Ronin.

Cunningham, 27, pleaded guilty to assaulting Jacob White Magpie, 39, of Rt. 1, outside Hamp's Restaurant at 12th and Cornhusker early Friday morning.

Police said both men had been drinking and Cunningham claimed they argued, then got into a fight. White Magpie, who pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a drunk charge and was fined $10, claimed Cunningham tried to rob him.

Hoffa Plea: 'Not Guilty'

Orlando, Fla. (UPI) — James R. Hoffa and two associates pleaded innocent Friday to charges of plunging $500,000 or union funds into a Florida land development scheme and misrepresenting sub-standard lots to prospective buyers.

The bantam leader of the 1,700,000-member teamster organization sang out, "not guilty, your honor," when arraigned on fraud charges before Federal Judge Dozier De Vane.

Union Funds

His co-defendants, Henry Lower, a former Teamster official and now president of Sun Valley Inc., the land development company which the union funds allegedly were used to promote, and Robert E. McCarthy, Jr., former branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth in Detroit, entered similar pleas.

Hoffa was represented by Fuller Warren, a former governor of Florida and one of the state's most colorful attorneys. "Lawyers sometimes don't put in full time" over the holidays Warren half-jestingly told the judge in pleading for more time to study the indictments.

Didn't Budge

Warren argued that U.S. Attorney T. Coleman Madsen of Miami spent 6 years investigating the case before charges were filed. Judge De Vane said a 30-day period should be sufficient for filing and refused to budge from his position.

Warren, who explained that "Mr. James Riddle Hoffa's personal funds" were being used to foot the legal bill, said he expected a directed verdict of acquittal after he presents his motions.

H o f f a, conservatively dressed in a dark business suit, did not appear overly concerned by his indictment. He talked freely with reporters and took a verbal jab at one of his favorite targets, Robert Kennedy, who was named by his president-elect brother Friday to fill the cabinet post of attorney general.

Hoffa said Robert would "find out this is not a Senate sub-committee but a court of law."

The indictments charge the 3 defendants used $500,000 in union funds to secure a 2,500 acre tract of land near Titusville, on Florida's East Coast, and set up Sun Valley, Inc. The 3, it was alleged, purchased lots from Sun Valley for about $18 apiece and attempted to sell them to union members and others for prices ranging from $150 to $1,000.

Answer Filed To Sex Psychopath's Freedom Attempt

The Nebraska attorney general's office maintained Friday that Donald Noll, adjudged a sexual psychopath in 1957, has not been harmed by the statutes he claims are unconstitutional.

Noll's attorney brought suit, saying justice demands that the law set up some standards for subsequent release of sexual psychopaths.

Noll's release from a state mental hospital has been recommended by the superintendent, but the Stanton County district court has refused to release him.

"It is submitted that the defendant (Noll) has no cause to complain," said the brief, written by Dwayne L. Jones, assistant attorney general. "The discretion of the trial court was exercised soundly after receiving testimony of psychiatrists."

Burney Seeks 'Workable' Fire Rules

Governor Burney said Friday he hopes the state fire marshal and his committee can come up with a "workable" set of fire regulations for school buildings if the present rules are "too stringent."

At the same time, Burney said he did not favor a state fire code enacted by the legislature to replace the present fire rules.

State Fire Marshal Joseph Divis has called a meeting in the statehouse next Tuesday to hear complaints of school officials who contend the present rules are unreasonable.

Burney said he asked Divis to call the meeting to restudy the fire rules. He added that if the 8-member committee which drafted the regulations 18 months ago believes the present rules are too restrictive, he hoped they would change them.

The rules have been in effect since July 1, 1959 but schools were given until Sept. 1 this year to comply.

NSEA Urges Code

Last week the Nebraska State Education Assn. urged adoption of a state fire code. The Delegate Assembly of NSEA felt the present rules could be changed too easily as interpreted by the state fire marshal.

"I think we will have the same trouble with a state fire code as with the rules," Burney said. He explained that statutes cannot be changed as easily as the rules.

Burney felt putting the rules in the form of statutes would be too hard to change in case fault was found with them.

State Education Commissioner Freeman Decker and

Omaha School Superintendent Harry Burke have been the severest critics of the fire rules and the manner in which the fire marshal is enforcing them.

At the budget hearing for the University of Nebraska, Carl Donaldson, business manager, said it would cost the university over $1.6 million if it complied with all of the recommendations made by the fire marshal.

Davidson Eyes Council Chair

W. H. "Bill" Davidson, Lincoln insurance agent, has taken out election petitions, the election commissioner's office reported late Friday.

Davidson told The Star that he would be a candidate for the City Council if he files. "It's a little early yet to say definitely," he said.

Adlai To Warm-Up

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson will work at a desk at headquarters of the U.S. mission to the United Nations before he takes over here as the ambassador-chief delegate in the Kennedy administration.
